Collins Gets 'All Clear' For Stroll Into Space

Gemini 10 Beset With Shortage of Fuel, Gas Burning Spacemen's Eyes

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Gemini 10 pilot Michael Collins was flashed an "all clear" today to stroll into space on a 50-foot lifeline and work with a "dead bird" target satellite left over from last March.

Using fuel from their own Agena space engine to make up some of the shortage on Gemini 10, command pilot John W. Young and Collins sped toward their distant target, expecting to catch up with it and begin Collins' space stroll at 5:56 p.m. (EST).

Space officials apparently decided the pungent gas that caused the Gemini twins' eyes to water during a 45-minute space stand Tuesday could be controlled.

The crew awoke about 8 a.m. after nine hours of sleep.

Study Fuel

Young, a Navy commander, and Collins, an Air Force major, were told to use a secondary propulsion system in their Agena to change their orbital plane and adjust their height so they could jockey into a position to rendezvous with the old satellite.

Flight officials on the ground continued studying the problems of low fuel and smarting eyes as the astronauts spun 240 miles above the earth.

William C. Schneider, Gemini mission director, said: "We feel we have a reasonable chance of completing the double rendezvous even though we don't have as much fuel pad as we'd like. If the environmental control system problem straightens out, we also feel we can make the space walk."

News Conference

At an after-midnight news conference, National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials gave the venture outside priority over rendezvous if a choice has to be made.

The eyes of both astronauts watered and became irritated Tuesday while Collins conducted experiments with the hatch open, the upper half of his body thrust into space.

Neither could see, and Collins was forced to end the exercise after 45 minutes, about 25 minutes early.

Lithium hydroxide, a chemical used to remove carbon dioxide from the cabin environmental control system, may have been responsible.

The problem cleared by the time the astronauts went to sleep at 11 p.m. EST but officials were concerned that per-

North Vietnamese Fire Missiles at Attacking U.S. Jets

One American Plane Lost to Communist SAM, Officials Say

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — North Viet Nam fired off a record 29 Soviet-made missiles Tuesday during heavy American air attacks near Hanoi and one of the rockets found its mark, the U.S. command reported.

One U.S. jet was lost to a surface-to-air missile and another was shot down by a Communist MIG17 in a dogfight 20 miles north of Hanoi, a spokesman said. American pilots claimed damage to three MIGs but saw none go down.

On the "peace" front, the South Vietnamese government with apparent U.S. blessing offered to end the war, including the air strikes against the Communist North, and begin talks toward reunification of North and South Viet Nam if the Viet Cong disband and Hanoi withdraws its troops from the South.

Little New

Except for the mention of reunification, the proclamation represented little new and reflected the new confidence in Saigon over the allied military position. Since the proposal demanded their capitulation, the Communists were certain to reject it.

In the ground war, U.S. jets and artillery pounded Communist positions in the jungles of the Song Ngan Valley just below the 17th Parallel frontier as 7,000 American Marines and South Vietnamese troops carried Operation Hastings into the sixth day. The main target of the aerial barrage was Hill 208, site of numerous bunkers and foxholes. A spokesman said 11 bunkers had been destroyed or damaged.

Ground fighting appeared to have tapered off against units of the North Vietnamese division which intelligence says recently infiltrated across the six-mile-wide demilitarized buffer zone separating North and South Viet Nam.

The Marines reported 332 Communists killed and the probable deaths of 549 more. A leatherneck battalion that had borne the brunt of the fighting left the field.

Dodd Finances Next Target of Ethics Group

First Round of Conduct Hearings Hears Julius Klein

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Ethics Committee indicated today its next round of hearings on misconduct charges against Sen. Thomas J. Dodd will deal with the Connecticut Democrat's financial affairs.

Chairman John Stennis, D-Miss., told a reporter he will announce the subject and the date for the hearings just as soon as he can. But he said he had no definite information at this time.

The bipartisan committee's first round of hearings, to explore Dodd's dealings with Julius Klein, owner of a Chicago public relations firm and a registered agent for West German business interests, ended late Tuesday.

Key Issue

Klein spent the day in the witness chair. On a key issue, he insisted he hadn't pressured Dodd in going to West Germany in 1964 to help Klein retain his clients there.

"I don't know a single United States senator who can be pressured," said Klein, who testified all his letters, memos and telephone calls to Dodd were just the exercise of his "God-given right" of petition.

Klein, a Republican, said he also had asked Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., and other senators to speak to German government and industrial leaders in his behalf. Javits later told a reporter he had mentioned Klein in talks with former Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and former Foreign Minister Heinrich Von Brentano.

Javits said in both cases his discussions dealt with Klein's views on German reparations to Jewish victims of Nazi prosecution. "I thought Klein's position

Jacksonville Hit by Rioting

Bands of Vandals Roam Streets for Second Straight Day

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Bands of vandals gave Jacksonville a second straight night of racial violence that was quelled only after police placed a curfew on a Negro business and residential area.

Police Sgt. J. T. Lowe said 12 persons — all Negroes and mostly teen-agers — were arrested. Many minor injuries were reported from the sporadic attacks by small bands.

Mayor Louis H. Ritter, who sounded out Gov. Haydon Burns Tuesday about calling out the National Guard if necessary, said city police were able to handle the situation, with the help of some state troopers.

Laundry Damaged

Fires caused $1,000 damage to a laundry and unspecified damage to a grocery. Police said both were believed to have been set by homemade fire bombs.

Firemen reported that youths threw rocks at them as they fought the laundry blaze.

A honeymooning Akron, Ohio, couple told police they were attacked by a gang of male and female Negroes when they stopped at a traffic light.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cutright said they jumped from their car and fled, taking refuge at a nearby house. She was admitted to a hospital for cuts and bruises on her legs and arms.

One More Killed

Guardsmen Patrol Cleveland Streets

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — National Guardsmen armed with machine guns today patroled the battered and smoldering Hough section under a state of emergency order after two Negroes died in riots.

One Negro man was shot to death Tuesday night amid wild disorders.

Widespread shooting, looting, and firebombing by Negroes raged for four hours in the slums where a woman was killed by gunfire Monday night. Violence eased about midnight.

Gov. James A. Rhodes called up 1,500 troops and declared Tuesday night that "a state of tumult, riot and other emergency" prevailed in Cleveland.

Patrol in Jeeps

Only a few hundred soldiers had reached the area by midnight. They patroled in jeeps carrying machine guns.

In a proclamation signed in Columbus, Rhodes commanded lawless elements to halt the rioting. He said more guardsmen would be sent in if needed — on request of authorities here.

The grim tally after the second night of wanton destruction:

Two killed by gunfire.

At least 24 injured, including 12 policemen, a firemen and five persons with gunshot wounds.

Uncounted property damage from burning and looting.

More than 100 arrests.

Ruined, blackened hulks of buildings, smashed store windows, heaps of tangled rubble—these were the ugly remains.

55 Fire Calls

Harried firemen, often the target of rocks, got 52 calls. City Safety Director John N. McCormick said there were 37 or 38 fires Tuesday night.

Three Negroes, including two wounded by gunfire, were taken to a hospital Tuesday night. A white man was admitted with an eye injury. A Negro youth was treated for a forehead cut from a flying brick.

"It's just black against black — that's all they're doing," moaned a Negro shop owner sitting guard at his place. But it also was Negro against policeman much of the time.

At an intersection in the worst trouble spot, Percy Giles, 36, of suburban Cleveland Heights fell at 8:55 with a bullet in the back of the head.

There was no official report of who shot Giles.

Survivor Views Speck

CHICAGO (AP) — The dark-haired, dainty nurse looked at the sinewy man accused of calmly killing eight of her friends.

Richard Speck, 24, was in a bed at the City Jail Hospital, pale from a loss of blood through self-inflicted cuts in his arms.

He may have been further weakened, doctors said, by a heart attack which he may have suffered shortly before his face-to-face meeting with the nurse Tuesday.

Was he the same man who had managed to subdue, gag, bind and then kill eight young student nurses early Thursday?

Corazon Amurao, 23, a Filipino exchange nurse who escaped the fate of her roommates by rolling under a bed and praying as they were led, one by one, to their deaths, was there to answer that question.

Papers' Comments

The Chicago Sun-Times and the Chicago Tribune in today's editions both said Miss Amurao had identified Speck as the intruder.

However, the state's attorney's office refused to give any information on the confrontation or to comment on the newspaper reports.

Tests Scheduled

Dr. William N. Norcross, the city jail physician, said in a medical bulletin that Speck may have suffered a heart attack shortly before the incident.

"There is an 80 per cent chance that Richard Speck suffered a coronary thrombosis sometime prior to 10 a.m. today (Tuesday)," Norcross said.

"Complete rest has been ordered as well as no interviews or visitors for the next 48 hours. The patient cannot be moved," he said.

Dr. Norcross said Speck complained of chest pains, was restless and was trying to sleep.

He said tests would be conducted today and Thursday to determine Speck's condition.

Dr. Norcross reported Speck's chest pains at a hearing Tuesday in the felony division of Circuit Court.

He said Speck was depressed during the confrontation with Miss Amurao and remained depressed after she left.

The City Jail Hospital administrative director, C. William Ruddle, said Miss Amurao, dressed in a nurse's uniform, was taken by Dr. Norcross to Speck's room.

Ruddle said Dr. Norcross spent five minutes examining Speck as Miss Amurao stood behind him. Dr. Norcross did not observe the girl's reaction, he said, nor did he hear her say anything.

Under Sedation

When Dr. Norcross turned around, Ruddle continued, Miss Amurao was gone. She had gone into Dr. Norcross' office to consult with police officials. Then she left the hospital.

A spokesman at South Chicago Community Hospital, where the eight students were in training, said Miss Amurao was placed under sedation.

Chief counsel Gerald Getty of the public defender's office was appointed Tuesday by Judge Daniel Ryan as Speck's attorney.

Dr. Norcross told Judge Ryan that Speck was physically unable to appear in court and advised against the alternative of convening court at Speck's bedside.

Red Skelton's Wife Hurt in Gun Mishap

Georgia Skelton, 44, was declared in satisfactory condition at Sunrise Hospital following treatment for a chest wound which was inflicted with a pistol early Tuesday morning.

The accident took place in the Skeltons' suite in the Sands Hotel as he was performing in the supper club below.

Mrs. Skelton was rushed to the hospital where doctors determined the shot had penetrated no vital organs. After his performance, Skelton was told the news and he rushed tearfully to the hospital.

Skelton remained with his wife, whom he married in 1945, and later attended the wedding of Frank Sinatra and Mia Farrow at the Sands Hotel. He insisted on performing his usual show Tuesday night.

The gun was a 38-calibre pistol which Skelton said was on the bedside table.

State Department to Recruit in Wisconsin

MILWAUKEE (AP) — A drive to recruit Wisconsin civilian experts in fields ranging from accounting to sanitation, for service in Viet Nam, was unveiled by the State Department Tuesday.

William A. Platt, chief of the Far Eastern Bureau public affairs staff of the Agency for International Development, said that advertisements would run all next week in a number of Wisconsin newspapers, appealing for the civilian workers.

Guardsmen Off Riot Duty

CHICAGO (AP) — National Guardsmen were pulled off patrols of the West Side Tuesday night and the area which was the scene of rioting by Negroes last week went through a quiet night.

It was the first night since the National Guard was activated Friday that the troops were not sent into the area to aid police in controlling outbreaks of violence.

The area has been relatively peaceful since the guardsmen moved into the area Friday night.

Between Flights

Sinatra, Miss Farrow Married in Las Vegas

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Singer Frank Sinatra honeymooned, somewhere, with his third wife Mia Farrow today after a Las Vegas wedding performed between plane flights.

Exactly where they went hasn't been determined.

Sinatra, 50, flew from London to New York and from there to Las Vegas, landing two hours before the wedding Tuesday. Miss Farrow flew in from Los Angeles in another of his company jets. The marriage is the first for the 21-year-old star of television's "Peyton Place."

New York Bound

Minutes after the wedding was performed before a few friends at the Sands Hotel, the couple announced they were flying to New York and boarded their plane.

They filed no flight plan, and airport authorities in New York reported the jet did not land there. There were unconfirmed reports that they flew here instead, but airport officials had left the field by that time. Later, two jets similar to Sinatra's touched down at Van Nuys Airport, about 100 miles northwest of here, with no passengers aboard.

Sinatra maintains a home at this desert spa but the house was quiet and its windows dark Tuesday night.

Four Minutes

The marriage ceremony took about four minutes. District Judge William Compton officiated at the single-ring rites in the hotel apartment of Jack Entratter, Sands president and longtime friend of Sinatra.

A week ago Miss Farrow's mother, actress Maureen O'Sullivan, widow of movie director John Farrow, had announced that the wedding would be sometime between Thanksgiving and Christmas. The timing apparently caught friends and relatives by surprise. The family of neither was present.

Miss Farrow, her close-cropped blonde head hatless, wore a two-piece white silk faille suit, with diamond-like buttons, and white gloves.

Entratter gave away the bride. Film producer William Goetz and his wife were best man and matron of honor. Others in the wedding party were comedian Red Skelton, two daughters of Entratter and two of his granddaughters.

"I think I handled it pretty good," Sinatra said of the wedding.

Congress Fears Reaction to Trial of Pilots

Sen. Dirksen Says Americans Will 'Go Whole Hog'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Everett M. Dirksen says that even if no executions are ordered, "the American people will want to go whole hog" against North Viet Nam if Hanoi puts captured U.S. pilots on trial.

Views similar to that expressed by the Senate Republican leader at a news conference Tuesday were reflected in statements by Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and Sens. Thomas H. Kuchel, R-Calif., and John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky.

Cooper said any violation of the Geneva prisoners of war convention by North Viet Nam "could provoke responses which would increase and increase into total barbaric conflict." Hanoi signed the convention in 1957.

Shock World

"The possibility of a trial of these prisoners, and the unknown ultimate results of such a trial, should shock the conscience of the world and ought to lead every country in the world to express its condemnation," Cooper said.

Mansfield retained hope that the Communists will not go through with their threat to try the captured Americans as war criminals.

But he said "Hanoi should recognize the feeling in this country, both among its citizens and its Congress, on this matter and consider the consequences."

Kuchel said the Hanoi regime

CCHE Likely To Defend Its Education Plan

Prominent Legislators Criticize Committee's Lack of Planning

By John Wyngaard
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — Badgered by some prominent legislative critics for alleged lack of adequate planning for state-supported higher education, the Coordinting Committee for Higher ly reply that a blueprint has ly replay that a blueprint has been drawn "for a comprehensive establishment of post-high school education equal to that of any state in the United States."

The description is contained in a proposed introduction to a report on CCHE activities and problems prepared by the retiring director of its administrative staff. He is Carlisle Runge, who has been succeeded in the top staff job by Angus Rothwell, former state superintendent of public instruction.

The quality and adequacy of CCHE long-range planning has been disputed in state affairs for months, with some prominent legislators vigorously critical about the record. Among them is Assemblyman Frank Nikolay of Clark County, whose comments have gained wide notice because of his rank as the leader of the majority Democrats of the Assembly which can control CCHE work through its power over appropriations.

Detailed Document

The detailed document of self-appraisal by the top policy board in Wisconsin higher education has not yet been published, but the prefatory statement emphasizes that it proposes to verify the "progress being made in the broad offering of post-high school educational opportunities to Wisconsin's citizens."

An element of the proof, the Runge introductory statement asserts, is "the fact that at the wholly-state supported institutions, no qualified person has been denied admission for want of faculty or facilities."

"Nor will they be," it adds.

Authorized Reorganization

The document acknowledges that some students have been turned away at the vocational and adult school post-high school departments. But the legislature, with the guidance of the CCHE, has authroized a broad reorganization of those programs to make it possible to enroll many more thousands of students. That legislative act is a "milestone," the final summary report will say.

The Runge summary said that education "cannot be measured by quantity alone," but insisted that enrollment experience portrays the size of the program of higher education and its effective planning. Two years ago the state universities had 88,000 students; next fall they will have 125,000, and by the end of the decade the total will rise to 164,000, it was said.

Victims' Blood Incriminating

State Program Proves Drinking Factor in Deaths

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — A new program of collecting blood samples from the bodies of Wisconsin highway accident victims is piling up evidence of the relationship of drinking drivers to the mounting highway death toll.

In the program undertaken by the safety division of the State Motor Vehicle Department with the cooperation of county coroners, it has been shown that at least 60 per cent of drivers killed on the highways had demonstrable volumes of alcohol in the blood.

More than a third of them, according to samples tested, contained alcohol in the blood amounting to fifteen hundredths or over, which is the measure customarily accepted as proof of intoxication.

Some Discarded

The samples are being analyzed at the rate of more than 20 a month. Thus far the samples have aggregated 267.

The division said that 85 out of the 267 samples thus far showed no evidence of alcohol. Some samples were discarded because they are not susceptible to testing.

The program is by implication providing support for new controls and penalties for drinking drivers, including probably the so-called "implied consent" law which has been presented to several legislative sessions, but without widespread backing thus far.

The 1965 legislature declined to enact such a law, in spite of repeated urging by Gov. Warren P. Knowles.

Under "implied consent" a driver suspected of intoxication would be required to submit to a chemical test, under penalty of forfeiting his driving license. Under present law, a driver cannot be compelled to submit to such an examination and the question of proof is dependent upon other testimony.

Rogers Argues, Larsen Farm Is Best School Site

DE PERE — Assemblyman William Rogers, (D-Kaukauna) told the Optimist Club he challenges the governor's office and those in support of the Shorewood site for the establishment of a new four-year university to present factual statistical data that can be compared with the Larsen Farm and the West De Pere sites.

Rogers charged that at no time had a cost analysis been compiled for taxpayers to analyze and compare. Referring to a Post-Crescent editorial of 1964 supporting the Larsen Farm site proposed under the John Reynold's administration, Rogers said, "This proves those who claim that we in Outagamie County are being provincial in our opposition to the present Shorewood site are wrong."

In his presentation, he cited secret meetings, the committee's disregard of the criteria and original intent of the Legislature as basis for the Outagamie County opposition.

In closing, Rogers stated, "However, had there been a display of leadership by a chief executive, there would be no controversy on where the university shall be located."

State Officials Plan Out-State School Study

Use Tours to Guide Development of Two UW Branch Sites

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON. State officials will study university branch campus development in other states to guide them in preparing for the creation of new branches of the University of Wisconsin in northeastern and southeastern Wisconsin, the state department of administration reported today.

Glen Pommerening, newly chosen executive assistant in the state department of administration, has been given the job of coordinating branch campus planning, according to Commissioner George Kaiser. One of his first projects will be the outlining of field trips in other states where regional campuses of state-supported institutions of higher learning are being created, as in Wisconsin, to accommodate the bulge in undergraduate enrollments.

One of the first on-the-spot inspections will be in southern Illinois along the Mississippi river near St. Louis, where a new branch of the Illinois system is being developed.

The legislature has authorized third and fourth year campuses for the two populous corners of the state, which are expected ultimately to absorb extension centers in those districts now providing first and second year instruction.

Pommerening was a central figure in the legislative planning and later became chairman of a site selection committee of the state building commission which decided in favor of Green Bay and rural Kenosha County as locations for the new facilities.

University officials expect the new schools to begin operations in 1970, and hopefully, in 1969, which means that the 1967 legislature will be asked to make building budget arrangements if the development plans are completed before that session convenes in January.

Jet Bases at Hanoi Not Scheduled for Strikes, Official Say

North Vietnamese Force Not Yet Viewed as Substantial Air Threat

By BOB HORTON

WASHINGTON (AP) — American officials said today U.S. planes probably will not hit the three jet air bases near Hanoi unless the North Vietnamese air force becomes more of a threat.

A Defense Department spokesman said the bases are a latent threat.

But he added: "Until North Viet Nam puts up a substantial challenge to our air operations the fields probably will remain a lower priority target."

In May, after a rash of dog fights between U.S. and Communist planes, U.S. officials implied that the air strips would be attacked if more American planes were shot down.

Since then, the Pentagon said four U.S. jets have been shot down in dogfights with Communist planes. Saigon officials list five U.S. planes lost in aerial combat. But officials apparently do not regard this as ample justification to take out North Vietnamese bases at Gia Lam, Phuc Yen and Kep.

In all, four U.S. jets have been shot down in dogfights with the Communists beginning in 1965.

The Defense Department says the North Vietnamese, on the other hand, have lost 17 of their Soviet-built MIGs, including three of the later, more maneuverable MIG21s.

The United States has lost about 290 planes of all types in the air and ground war in Viet Nam, the Pentagon reports.

Defense officials say Hanoi has been losing planes faster than they are being replaced. Either the Soviet Union or Communist China, or both, have been doing the providing.

"It is our best estimate that they probably come primarily from the Soviet Union," Deputy Secretary of Defense Cyrus R. Vance said last weekend.

Vance, content to describe the North Vietnamese air force as "relatively small," said the Hanoi regime has approximately 15 to 20 MIG21 supersonic aircraft, approximately 40 of the older MIG15s and 17s, and six of the old Soviet IL28 bombers.

These figures compare with about 11 MIG21s, 55 to 60 MIG15s and 17s and six IL28s the Reds were believed to have had at the beginning of the year, Vance said.

From a strictly military standpoint, the U.S. Air Force would like to knock out the North Vietnamese bases.

Political considerations, however, enter the picture. President Johnson and his top advisers have moved cautiously in expanding bombing operations in the North for fear of drawing a military response from Red China.

So as long as North Vietnamese pilots have little success in their occasional forays against American fliers, the bases appear likely to remain on the U.S. list of potential but not priority targets.

Duty Neglect in Illness Denied By Mrs. Smith

Treasurer Slaps Zaborski Method Of Campaigning

By JAMES R. POLK
Associated Press Writer

MADISON (AP)—State Treasurer Dena Smith, four - term caretaker of Wisconsin finances, said Tuesday her absences from office were caused by illness and never resulted in neglect of duties.

Mrs. Smith said there was no basis for the campaign statements of Sen. Richard Zaborski, D-Milwaukee, who has called repeatedly in recent weeks for "sober consideration" of state finances.

"Mr. Zaborski's inference on my after-hour activities is not worthy of a state senator, and I choose not to conduct my campaign on the same level," Mrs. Smith said.

"Of course, I have imbibed the same as other people, but not to any excess," she said. "Other people can have something to drink. But it seems that I must not. So I have not been."

Recent Absence

Mrs. Smith, 66, who was recently discharged from a hospital, said illness and the rigors of campaigning for re-election had kept her away from her office at times, but she denied charges she was absent chronically.

"I'm asking for no sympathy," she said. "I know my office functions as prescribed by statute, and I fulfill my obligations."

The Republican state treasurer said her office "runs beautifully, and I don't have to be at the front counter every day. Anything that has to be taken care of has been taken care of. There was nothing neglected at any time."

Zaborski, one of three candidates seeking the Democratic nomination for treasurer, has triggered a fusillade of charges and counter-charges in the last week.

Gone During June

In Rhinelander July 13, he said Mrs. Smith had been absent from office the entire month of June.

Zaborski said in a statement Tuesday that "when a lady in high public office chooses to thumb her nose at even the most ordinary office conduct then it is high time that a political hatchet is put to her record, woman or not."

I refuse to say anything about Sen. Zaborski," Mrs. Smith replied. "I don't think he's helping himself by what he's saying. If he does get him go ahead.

The gray-haired widow was appointed to succeed her husband as treasurer when he died in 1957. She is seeking a fifth term this year.

Strange Souvenir Collections

American Drinking Habits Puzzle Exchange Students Returning Home

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two out-of-date Ohio license plates, a broken ski, a flour sifter, a couple of old copies of Playboy magazine, and about 15 tons of excess fat.

That may not sound like a list of tourist souvenirs of a trip to the United States, but for 3,086 youngsters, it was.

There was, of course, a smattering of models of the Statue of Liberty, picture post cards of the White House at night and a few Indian blankets.

But after living in this country for nearly a year under "typical American home" conditions, 3,086 teen-agers from 59 foreign countries were far more interested in returning home with, as one put it, "the idiotic little things we can't get or can't afford in our own countries."

Last Summer

The teen-agers arrived late last summer to live and study in the United States under the auspices of the American Field Service. They stayed with American families and many, who were high school seniors when they arrived, were returning home with diplomas from American schools.

As they gathered here during their last week in this country, they had curious souvenir lists and some frank comments about the American way of life.

Most startling for many of the students were Americans' strange drinking habits. Some sample comments:

Stella de la Garma, 16, of Mar Del Plata, Argentina: "We have no drinking age (limit) in Argentina. Anybody can drink any time, so nobody ever gets drunk. But here, kids get drunk just because it's against the law."

'Soapy Water'

Hans Joerg Niebergall, 16, of Bremen, Germany: "American beer tastes like soapy water. And Americans pour beer down the side of glasses to keep foam down. That's just making bad beer worse."

Jose Filomino, 19, of Sao Paulo, Brazil: "In my country, if you can reach the bar, you can order a beer."

But, apparently in Brazil, he can't get old Confederate flags because they number among Jose's souvenirs, as does a set of Ohio license plates.

"There's no particular reason for them," he said. "I just like them."

One rather universal souvenir among the students was excess personal poundage.

Nearly all of them gained weight, they said, in amounts varying from 6 to 35 pounds. If conservatively averaged at 10 pounds per student, this totals more than 15 tons.

"It's not surprising," said Annie Ringot, 19, of Paris. "Americans take cars everywhere they go. When I went to the mailbox, I took a car."

Debate Looms Over Which Charter Applies to Fliers

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Are the American captives in North Viet Nam subject to trial under the 1946 Nuernberg Charter against war criminals — or are they immune from it under the 1949 Geneva convention for the protection of prisoners of war?

North Vietnamese diplomats have spotlighted a growing world legal dispute on that point in announcing that the captured fliers would be tried on war crime charges.

But Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg, U.S. Chief delegate to the United Nations, told reporters in Geneva Tuesday that in the U.S. view "the Geneva conventions on the treatment of prisoners of war fully apply to the Viet Nam conflict." Goldberg is a former justice of the U.S. Supreme Court.

Thant Appeal

This conflict of opinion was noted in an appeal made by Secretary-General U Thant last Saturday in which he asked North Viet Nam to exercise restraint in its treatment of American prisoners.

In a statement issued by a spokesman, Thant urged all sides in the Viet Nam war to "comply with the provisions of the Geneva convention of Aug. 12, 1949, irrespective of conflict interpretations."

The North Vietnamese, however, continue to threaten the trial of U.S. personnel under the Nuernberg Charter.

They argue that the United States is carrying on the war in Viet Nam in violation of the 1954 Geneva agreements on Indo China, which call for the withdrawal of foreign troops.

Crimes Against Peace

Article 6 of the Nuernberg Charter sets out that "crimes against peace" include "waging of a war of aggression or a war in violation of international treaties, agreements or assurances."

Article 8 says: "The fact that the defendant acted pursuant to order of his government or of a superior shall not free him from responsibility, but may be considered in mitigation of punishment."

North Viet Nam could plead the first part of that article in convicting the fliers, the latter part in letting them off lightly.

The United States, the Soviet Union, Britain and France adopted the Nuernberg Charter in London Aug. 8, 1945, as the law for an international military tribunal to try major German war criminals.

Already Crimes

But in handing down its judgment in Nuernberg Sept. 30 and Oct. 1, 1946, the tribunal gave the charter general application, saying that the crimes it listed "were crimes under international law already."

The United States might argue that if a point of international law was at issue, a North Vietnamese court would hardly be the place to decide it.

North Viet Nam, South Viet Nam and the United States are all bound by the Geneva convention on prisoners of war, since all are parties to it.

It was adopted at a Geneva diplomatic conference and South Viet Nam became a party in 1954, the United States in 1956 and North Viet Nam in 1957.

It appears to cover the present undeclared war, because it says "the present convention shall apply to all cases of declared war or of any other armed conflict which may arise between two or more contracting parties, even if a state of war is not recognized by one of them."

Students Might Lose Deferment in Reclassification

MADISON (AP) — The Wisconsin Selective Service director says some college students may lose military deferment status before the normal expiration date of October because of low grades.

Col. Bentley T. Courtenay said Tuesday reclassification would begin this month based on academic ratings and Selective Service test results.

There are about 42,570 deferments in Wisconsin for academic reasons, he said. Students who have quit school, he said, are likely to lose deferment before October, he added.

Fights From Within

GOP Oldtimers Challenged

BY JAMES R. POLK
Associated Press Writer

Complete listings of candidates for the Sept. 13 primary showed today no fewer than 41 legislators facing challenges in their parties' primaries.

The Wisconsin Senate where fully one third of the members sent here for opening day last year were born in another century, four of six primary challenges will involve Republicans accustomed in the past to the reverence accorded age.

Sen. Frank E. Panzer, R-Brownsville, the Senate's president pro tem who first came to Madison in 1931, faces two primary opponents. He is 75.

Oleo Fight

Sen. Earl Leverich, R-Sparta, who led the battle to ban colored oleo three decades ago and who has remained its implacable enemy, will be challenged by Eau Claire Republican Raymond C. Johnson. Leverich is 74.

Soft spoken Sen. Chester F. Dempsey, R-Hartland, turned 70 today. He has two GOP opponents.

Sen. Peter P. Carr, R-Janesville, born in Denmark in 1890, also has two primary rivals, including Assemblyman George M. Borg, R-Delavan.

Filings for the legislature closed July 12. Because candidates in larger counties filed in clerks' offices rather than with the secretary of state in Madison, full lists of primary candidates did not become available until today.

Changing Arenas

Borg is one of 13 legislators not seeking re-election. Few of them are fleeing the political arena.

Two assemblymen are running for Congress, one state senator is campaigning for state treasurer, an assemblyman is running for attorney general, and four assemblymen want to be senators.

Two of them, Republicans Everett V. Bidwell of Portage and Walter E. Terry of Baraboo, are campaigning for the same senate seat.

On the other hand, three assemblymen have no opponents for re-election in either party. They are Reino Perala, D-Superior; William S. Schwefel, R-Oakfield, and Franklin M. Jahnke, R-Markesan.

Assemblyman William P. Atkinson, D-South Milwaukee, and Fred Galli, R-Monroe, have no challengers in the opposite party, but must survive battles in the primary.

The biggest free-for-all is in Milwaukee's 16th District where nine candidates are seeking the Democratic nomination to succeed Assemblyman Wayne F. Whittow, D-Milwaukee.

Whittow is involved in a three man Democratic primary for a Senate seat now held by a Democrat running for state treasurer.

Whittow's field of challengers was reduced by one when Roman R. Blenski of Milwaukee was disqualified because he also is running for Congress.

There are 17 Senate seats and all 100 Assembly seats offered as prizes of political battle this fall. There are 344 candidates.

Watts Rioting Put Away Until After Election

Candidates Can't Risk White Feeling About '65 Riots

BY ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

several prominent Los Angeles citizens arranged for feature writers to be flown at a nominal admission price in order to compensate for the absence of commercial interests in Watts.

This project might help prevent renewed Negro rioting and its sponsors have a special reason for wanting Watts cool and calm this summer. As partners of Democratic Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown and candidate for a third term they fear that more racial conflict may cripple Republican Ronald Reagan into the governor's seat on the white backlash.

But Reagan was not on hand for the opening of remodeled Watts theater. Nor indeed was any major white political connected with the project in support. Even those sympathetic to the Negroes of Watts resent the high-handed political tactics of Catholic Archbishop James Francis McIntyre.

Parker supported by Negroes to implement the McCone commission's recommendations for closer relations between the police department and the ghetto Negro. Instead the mayor and police chief have successfully pushed through the legislature a dubious measure against rioting riots.

Little White Opposition

There was little opposition from white politicians. Noting Negro's awesome vote against him in the primary election among blue collar whites Brown felt compelled to support the anti-riot bill. Anything less would be conceding defeat to Reagan.

With Watts kept in cement by the political campaign the ghetto goes its own tragic way. Radicals of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee are gaining influence on the street corners with their latest proposal to create Watts as a freedom city, separate from Los Angeles. Among the unemployed youths of Watts the slick-talking Black Muslims remain immensely influential — partly because their agents are making it without visible employment.

Thus the white and Negro communities here seem to have become more, not less estranged from each other since the riots of 11 months ago. Whether this tragic pattern can be broken will not be known until after Election Day.

Threat of War Crimes Trials Brings Concern

North Viet Nam Believed Pressed For Men, Munitions

By BARRY SCHWEID

WASHINGTON (AP) — Though Communist countries have a marked habit of not always following through on bellicose statements, there is real concern here that North Viet Nam may try downed American pilots as war criminals

The concern is based in part on the effectiveness of the air strikes against oil facilities outside Hanoi and Haiphong and on the fact that U S authorities believe North Viet Nam is hard pressed for men and materiel

As far back as last September, the North Vietnamese government threatened in a letter to the International Red Cross at Geneva to try captured American pilots as war criminals And yet it wasn't until last month or so that official Washington demonstrated deep concern

Main Reasons

There are at least three reasons for the mounting anxiety

1 The parading of dozens of captured American pilots through the main street of Hanoi July 6 before jeering crowds shouting 'Death to the American pirates Punish the war criminals severely'

2 The recent multiplicity of threats in official and semiofficial North Vietnamese quarters that the pilots would be tried

3 The psychological and material losses suffered by North Viet Nam in the devastating oil strikes leading to the belief that Hanoi — if only for the sake of face — may feel compelled to retaliate in some dramatic way

What would the Communists hope to accomplish by trying the pilots as war criminals?

Popular Theories

There are several theories current here Among them

1 Uniting the civilian population in the North behind Hanoi's military efforts in the South by hammering home the idea that the North Vietnamese are the victims of criminal action by the United States

2 Rallying world opinion to Hanoi's side via the same theme

3 Getting material help from sympathetic countries and spurring its own people to keep up the war's manpower demands

4 Turning American public opinion against President Johnson's Viet Nam policies

The last could turn out to be a miscalculation Many critics of the war already have joined with administration officials in trying to head off war crimes trials could lead to disastrous consequences"

The United States' legal position is grounded in the 1949 Geneva convention on treatment of prisoners of war Washington signed in 1955 and North Viet Nam in 1957

Among other things the convention applies to armed conflict as well as cases of declared war there has been no declaration of war in Viet Nam — gives prisoner of war status to war criminals and says prisoners of war must at all times be protected, particularly against acts of violence or intimidation and against insults and public curiosity"

North Viet Nam claims as a precedent the Nuernberg trials of German war criminals after World War II

Safety Week Reminds Farmer Of Potential for Accidents

BY E. H. JORRIS M. D.
State Health Officer

Although Wisconsin's overall economy has changed from rural to urban, the state is still a major producer of agricultural commodities, and as such has an intimate concern with Farm Safety Week, which is being observed July 24 30

According to the National Safety Council, accidents of all kinds kill more than 8 000 farm residents each year and an additional 700 000 or more are victims of disabling injuries In Wisconsin there has been slightly more than 80 fatal farm accidents each year Statisticians of the State Board of Health estimate that there are 70 to 80 injuries requiring emergency treatment for every fatality

The farm safety office of the College of Agriculture of the University of Wisconsin compiles an interesting summary of fatal farm accidents from reports in Wisconsin daily and weekly newspapers The latest such summary available is for 1964 and this lists a total of 85 deaths from farm accidents Machinery accidents accounted for 56 of the fatalities and in 49 of these tractors were involved

In 26 of the tractor accidents the tractor tipped over six of these were driven by boys of 15 to 18 years of age 19 were driven by men with ages ranging from 20 to 74 and in one the victim was a woman Eight persons were killed while riding as extra passengers on a tractor six were boys of 3 to 15 years of age one was an 11 year old girl and the eighty was a 59 year old man Two accidents provide particular emphasis on the danger of permitting small children near running machinery in one instance a 29 month old boy was caught in the power take off of the tractor and another similar fatal accident involved a 4 year old boy And there were three accidents in which young children were run over by tractors

This report of the College of Agriculture provides supplementary data to the popular Fatal Farm Accidents published by the Statistical Services Division of the State Board of Health and compiled from information contained on actual death certificates It helps to point out that safety precautions in agriculture are self imposed and a farmer is free to operate with or without them if he so desires Hopefully Farm Safety Week will prompt farm people to appreciate greater awareness of the hazards in their everyday task

Foreign Policy and an Escalating War

The announcements from Hanoi and the National Liberation Front in South Viet Nam that there are partial mobilizations in the North and that the Viet Cong intend to step up the war against Saigon and the United States forces may be merely the usual bluster that accompanies war. Even Hitler was making the same sort of assertions to fight on for another decade just a week before he went down in the Berlin bunker never to emerge.

But more and more it begins to appear that pressures from several directions mean heightening of the war that can end only in the destruction of North Viet Nam. And this of course means an appalling failure of our foreign policy in Southeast Asia.

It often has been pointed out that war in Europe would mean that our European policies had failed since the presence of the Strategic Air Force is primarily meant as a deterrent to war. But beyond the necessity for the show of potential force is the importance of diplomacy. In Europe in general, ours has been at least adequate with a combination of firmness and restraint. But the war in Viet Nam is proof of the failure in that area.

The Communists are basically to blame because of their aggressive tendencies and their intentions to take over by any means available any country which appears to be vulnerable. Presumably we do not seek any one's territory — at least as long as we are granted various military bases in other countries so as to protect both our own interests and those of our friends. But at this juncture the threats of force, the landing of troops, the signs of determination, which worked in Greece, Lebanon, Berlin and Cuba have made no impression upon the Communist governments in Hanoi and Peking. In part this is due to the millions of ground troops that these governments can throw almost indefinitely into the fray. And in part it is due to the success in sucking us into exactly the kind of war they want to fight and we do not.

The decisions in Washington are getting harder and harder to make. If North Viet Nam tries American prisoners of war as war criminals and executes them it seems to be almost assumed that we will use an all out war even with the Soviet Union to destroy North Viet Nam. There must be even the suspicion that such an act on the part of the Communists would make things easier for the Johnson Administration because a more violent war would then be backed by the majority of Americans.

But in any case, the longer the current type of struggle goes on with increased American casualties, the more pressure there will be upon President Johnson to throw caution and restraint aside and get the whole thing over with. It is important that this message reaches Hanoi before it is too late but so far there has been no sign of perception.

A Bug in Tito's Ear

There was some surprise over the sudden ousting of Aleksandar Rankovic, long regarded as Marshal Tito's right hand man in Yugoslavia. Various reasons were given including the rather naive one that Tito favored a more liberal government while Rankovic was connected with conservative Communist ideas.

But now the real reason has come to light. It seems a member of Tito's family discovered a listening device, installed by the secret police under the authority of Rankovic, in no other place than the Marshal's home.

Such bugs are part and parcel of totalitarian governments. They also have crept into use in the United States, much to the discredit of the Justice Department. And Communists have been planting them in international agencies, including the seat of the United States in foreign embassies.

As head and founder of the Yugoslavian secret police, Rankovic apparently could not resist bugging Tito himself. As soon as the device was found, the Marshal reportedly went into a rage and careful searches were made of all his residences as well as of those of his friends and advisors. How many more were found has not been announced but a lot of other Yugoslavians lost their positions and titles along with Rankovic. In fact, maybe those who didn't have bugs in their homes were automatically put on the purge list.

It's a good lesson for those who head secret police units. It's one that Rankovic should have learned from the demise of Beria in Russia more than a decade ago.

How to Repair National Capitol

There are indications of crumbling on one side of the front of the United States Capitol building. But the proposed remedy, at a cost of at least $34 million, threatens to shake even more foundations in Washington.

The Architect of the Capitol, George Stewart, has drawn plans to build a new marble front almost 90 feet out from the old sandstone walls with additions such as two new dining rooms, two auditoriums for indoctrinating tourists, more than a hundred new offices for Congressmen and various other rooms. According to Senator Stephen Young of Ohio, the whole place would become "virtually ... a kingsize Howard Johnson's."

Certainly if the walls are crumbling, steps must be taken. It probably cannot be seriously argued that the Washington machine doesn't need more space. But the trouble with all the elaborate plans going on is that the costs are enormous and the results inefficient.

There was a considerable uproar some years ago when the huge new Senate office building was completed and Senator Proxmire discovered that after vast amounts of wax were used on the floors, they then were covered with expensive carpeting.

But, no matter. Architect Stewart went ahead with his massive $81 million Rayburn office building for House of Representatives members. After Congressmen swarmed to get space in the elaborate building with offices in considerable contrast to the cubbyholes of the old, it was discovered that running water was not available as planned in the offices and a lot of walls were reopened to put in the pipes.

Senator Paul Douglas has ominously warned of plans for an underground labyrinth of a garage "which would cost close to $10,000 per car." And already there are rumblings about the still unannounced plans being drawn for a new Library of Congress.

Just a few years ago the government spent $21 million renovating the east front of the Capitol. But the expense is not what may halt the proposals to add to the west. The Government's Commission on Fine Art is raising an outcry over any changes in the outward appearance of the Capitol on esthetic grounds. Representative Samuel Stratton of New York is trying to find a committee of one million to oppose the project on the stand that it is a sort of denial of our traditions.

Somehow it just doesn't seem that our heritage requires the spending of so much money even to house what Senator Long proclaims as "the Government of the United States, the greatest nation on the face of the earth."

The last Fond du Lac Commercial's Reporter makes the following mention of the wages paid to one of our teachers in the Public Schools: ...teGrammar Department of Second Ward School. She was Mrs. Bacon was in charge of the Grammar Department of the Second Ward Sch... She has had long experience in teaching and is spoken of as excelling in the commonplace work she has so long made a study.

...is the policy of a city School Boards to pay a price that will command the services of the very best teachers and when they secure the services of such they are retained as long as possible and the marked improvement is noticeable in our schools due a great deal to this practice.

Mrs. Nellie Bacon, daughter of Dr. Brown of Lamartine, who received $40 a month as a teacher in Oakfield last year is now employed in one of the public schools at Appleton. She receives $75 a month.

This is we think, the highest wages paid a female teacher in this State. A considerable number of Appleton teachers were taken from the public schools of this community." — Commonwealth Reporter.

Taylor Writes

We Are Getting Better Idea Now of What European Allies Are Worth

BY HENRY J. TAYLOR

Defense Minister Denis Healey has told Parliament that Britain has refused one request from the United States for certain airborne weapons and intends to refuse a second such arms order. The word, you will note, comes from London, not Washington.

Taylor

Healey, warming to the subject like hockey's Gordie Howe making his 600th goal, said the rejections were based on "the likelihood that the United States would use the weaponry in Viet Nam."

A heavy dose of buck fever, called in less elegant circles the jitters, hit the Labor government when left-wing party members predicted that Britain would aid the United States.

A few British troops to help us in Viet Nam while 300,000 armed Americans stand guard in Europe? Oh, no! It seems that even the mere mention of that is the silliest thing since Caligula married his horse in the Roman Forum. Stand with us on the diplomatic front? Not even that! Prime Minister Harold Wilson blandly tells us that Britain's role is "to maintain complete impartiality" so as to help later in bringing about negotiations.

Our European allies of today have told us twice in this century that it is America's duty to enter everybody's battle for freedom and that our own freedom was at stake if we did not do so.

SAME EACH TIME

Their propaganda was the same each time. Americans must be made ashamed to be "isolationist." But when President Johnson produces the same point for the umpteenth time, as he did so ably in his July 12 TV talk, our Allied listeners are out to lunch. "Shoo, fly, don't bother me."

Beginning with Korea (1950) four successive U.S. Presidents have suffered the duck-out and ridden with the punch, and so has the U.S. taxpaying public. We've not only continued to keep armed Americans in Europe for more than 21 years since World War II but, in Britain's case, have delivered $9.4 billion in our aid. This includes a $3.7 billion loan to the same Wilson government on which that government has paid neither the principal nor interest for two years.

Yet it only required a question of whether Britain would supply us some conventional bombs we need, without restricting where they be used, to show how completely we're left alone with our own dream, like Harvey with his rabbit.

When Healey lifted the veil he set out to prove that Prime Minister Wilson is adhering with magnificent tenacity to his May pronouncement that Britain will not supply — heavens, no, — the United States any needed arms, directly or indirectly, for the fighting in Viet Nam.

Healey stated that instead of attempting to sell us arms with restrictions on their use Britain would solve that by simply not selling us any arms that might support our fight against the Viet Cong.

Some Parliament members found it immediately evident that this, when analyzed, actually means additional free aid to Britain. For a related joker emerges, nd our taxpayers are certainly entitled to know about it.

PLANES FOR BRITAIN

Behind the scenes, and while the Viet Nam War goes on, we have agreed to "sell" Britain 50 advanced F-111A American jets just the same. But by this latest British action it seems unlikely that Britain can make much headway in offsetting the $300 million cost.

We think our European allies' isolation is dead wrong, and surely it is wrong for the American taxpayer to support it for more than 21 years while it grows progressively worse.

Why should we maintain 300,000 armed Americans in Europe no matter how outrageously our European friends play their isolationist game at our expense? The Budget Bureau tells me each fighting man we keep there costs us an estimated $7,265 each year.

It would seem that the only remaining thing which could bring our European friends to their senses is to bring our troops home. This would force them to put up or shut up. If that does not jolt them into some support of the United States, some place in the world, what's the point in calling them our allies, anyway? It is a compiex question — surely, we need them as they need us — but we should not keep on paying for friends if they are, in simple truth, friends we haven't got.

Will Any Republicans Cross Over to Vote in Democratic Primary?

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — The unusual circumstance that there are numerous contests for Democratic state ticket nominations while a Republican state ticket faces the primary election in September unopposed, will inevitably revive the speculation on the "cross-over vote" and its importance in Wisconsin politics.

Wyngaard

In Wisconsin, unlike some other states, the primary is "open," meaning that any voter can pick the ballot he chooses to cast his vote for party nominations, without regard to his regular affiliation or his voting preferences in the past. That absolute freedom of choice has had profound effect on the character of Wisconsin politics during this century and has also resulted in a weaker party organization structure than in some other states. Yet the issue is academic, since there is no chance whatever of early legislation to establish the "closed" primary, one in which voters would register their party preference before voting as a condition to taking part in the nomination proceedings.

It is reasonably evident that in the past many voters of basic Democratic persuasion voted in Republican primaries for a number of reasons. Until lately, the Democratic ticket was rarely exciting. Not only did the party have little chance to win, but it rarely produced significant contests for its perfunctory nominations.

THE INDUCEMENT

There was a strong inducement for the Democrats to wander, moreover, because the Republican primaries usually provided good fights, often on ideological lines, as when the Progressive faction battled the Stalwars for party control over many decades. In those periods the Republican primary election outcome was the equivalent of final election, and the Democrats knew it. For a Democratic voter to make himself felt, over a couple of generations, he was obliged to take part in the nomination process of the opposing party.

Lately that has changed abruptly. Democrats now have pulled up to strongly competitive status with the Republicans. Today they have fielded four candidates for governor and several aspirants each for the other places on the state ticket except for attorney general. Query: Will there be substantial numbers of Republicans, satisfied that they are not needed in their own column, who will stray to the Democratic side of the ballot and thus change the outcome that might result if only Democrats decided? Recently a publicist close to Gov. Knowles suggested obliquely that possibility, perhaps reflecting the guess of his friend in the executive office. At least one of the Democratic gubernatorial aspirants appears to believe that any such migration of GOP voters would be helpful to his own cause.

Yet it is difficult to imagine such a development, even in such a fluid and independent electorate as Wisconsin has been shown to have.

Unlike independents, the Wisconsin Republican voter has had no experience in such ballot straying and has never acquired the habit. The regular Republican habit of supporting his party remains strong. There is probably a better possibility that some Republicans may miss voting on primary day, and thus permit the Democrats to acquire the momentary prestige of having out-polled their rivals, than for any significant cross-over to the Democratic side.

It is a common assumption that partisans in such situations move over with the Machiavellian idea of nominating the weakest or the least presentable of the opposition candidates so that their own party may have a less dangerous fight in the final tally in November. Yet that is implausible also in a state like Wisconsin which has no slightest trace of the machine politics practices elsewhere in the country. The instinct of the voter who wavers between parties is to support the most attractive candidate and the one who most nearly squares with his beliefs. It is difficult to find any ideological difference, from the regular Republican viewpoint, among the candidates on the Democratic primary election ballot.

Strictly Personal

Public Relations Not Just One-Way Street

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

As you may imagine, someone who writes a daily column is bombarded with hundreds of pieces of mail a month from "public relations" people. They all want something favorable printed about their clients.

Harris

What fascinates me about this flourishing business of public relations is that not one firm out of 20 seems to understand the main purpose of a program of public relations.

Most of them look upon it as a one-way street, a means by which the company communicates with, and persuades, the public to some attitude or action. They think it is their job to talk; when the most important part of their job is to listen.

What is wrong with most large companies? The chief defect is the isolation of the executives at the top, who rarely know what is happening at the bottom until it is nearly too late to do much about it. Just like the husband, the top executive is generally the last man to learn about infidelity.

Good public relations does not consist so much in telling the public as in listening to it. It provdes a feedback that is otherwise lacking in the organizational structure. And it keeps reducing corporate fantasy to the proportions of reality — not at all an easy task.

For one of the great myths of American social life is that the business leader is a hard-headed realist with his ear to the ground. In some respects he may be, but in relation to his company he is a starry-eyed idealist who is unwilling to see the worst until it is full upon him.

The corporate executive cannot believe that his subordinates are unhappy, or that the company isn't living up to its claims, or that its product isn't the greatest ever turned out, or that the customers aren't thrilled to pieces to see a picture of the plant and the founder. No love is as blind as that of a man infatuated with his own firm.

The value of public relations ought to be, and most often isn't, bringing the company down to earth, forcing it to listen to ugly sounds from its employees and customers, and turning communication into a genuine two-way street. Only in this way would the public relations counselor earn his magnificent fee.

Ninety-five per cent of the mail they send me goes directly into the wastebasket, where it belonged in the first place. They are just self-congratulatory messages, designed to massage the ego of the company's directors, rather than to provide information for the public. And the best information that could be provided would be the good word that the company is dying to hear what the outside world thinks of it.

haps it would recur when the hatch again was opened for the space walk.

If all goes well today, the astronauts were to break off from the Agena about 2 p.m. and start closing in on another Agena left in orbit last March by the Gemini 8 astronauts.

Hitchhiking under the power of their own Agena, the Gemini 10 crew had shot skyward to a record altitude for manned flight at an orbital high point of 476 miles, then pulled back down close to 236 miles, just seven miles shy of the path of the old Agena.

Like Buck Rogers

They are to rendezvous within a few feet of Agena 8 around 5 p.m., and Collins is to step outside about an hour later. He'll use a gas-powered hand gun to propel himself Buck Rogers style over to Agena 8 to conduct experiments.

In steering to their rendezvous and linkup with the Agena 10 in their first hours in space Monday night, Young and Collins expended considerably more spacecraft fuel than intended.

Instead of having 70 per cent of their 240-pound fuel supply remaining they were down to 35 per cent. As a result, they curtailed many scientific and technology experiments, and ground controllers decided they should remain docked with Agena 10 instead of disconnecting from it Tuesday as planned.

By using the Agena engine for the maneuvers that set them up for the rendezvous with Agena 8, the astronauts conserved more vital spacecraft fuel. They used only 5 per cent Tuesday, making the high-altitude dash on the Agena's 16,000-pound-thrust main engine and using its two smaller thrusters for more delicate maneuvers.

Performed Well

NASA said the Agena 10 performed far better than expected and proved a manned space ship can join with a tanker satellite in orbit and use its fuel and motors for propulsion.

Agena 10 cannot be used for the Agena 8 rendezvous because its link with the Gemini 10 nose blocks the view of the astronauts. They must be able to see their target as they make the tricky final maneuvers to close in.

Agena 8 will be especially difficult to track down because it has no battery power, lights or radar transponder as did Agena 10.

The first hint of trouble on Collins' "stand up" exercise came when Young contacted the Canton Island tracking station in the Pacific and reported that Collins was back in his seat and the hatch was closed. Both, he said, were having trouble with their eyes.

This was 25 minutes earlier than planned.

Couldn't See

"Mike said he couldn't see anything at all," Young said. "Well, after he said that, I knew I couldn't see anything. So we had to call it off."

Young said smelly fumes spread through their space suits, causing tears to flow and their eyes to become red and swollen.

Both said it smelled like lithium hydroxide, which has a pungent odor similar to ammonia.

They were ordered to switch to a high-flow oxygen system, which cleansed the suit and cabin environmental control systems, shutting off the lithium hydroxide supply.

After a while the pilots reported the situation clearing. They switched back to the original system with no further trouble.

Asked when he first noticed the problem, Young replied:

About Sunrise

"Oh, I guess about sunrise (several minutes after Collins opened the hatch). I was crying a little through the night but I didn't say anything about it. I figured I'd be named a sissy. My eyes were watering but I just thought it was oxygen flowing."

Before Collins closed the hatch he snapped ultra-violet photographs of the stars and took photographs for evaluation of true colors in space.

"There's a beautiful view up here," he exclaimed. "I feel perfectly at home. I'm looking forward to the stunt coming up tomorrow."

Gemini 10 plans to return to earth Thursday, landing in the Atlantic about 500 miles east southeast of Cape Kennedy at 1:07 p.m.

Guard Patrols Slum Streets In Cleveland

said the shooting came after bottles were hurled at police cars. A crowd of Negroes milled around.

Policemen fired their weapons.

"They shot him! They shot him!" cried some of the Negroes. "This is too much!"

Policemen and firemen raced from one spot to another, chasing looters, exchanging fire with snipers and trying to douse the fires, igniting in building after building.

Tear gas was fired into a building near the spot where the fatal shooting took place as police tried to flush out a sniper.

Police Copter

A police helicopter with its lights off clattered overhead in the night. The air was filled with screaming sirens.

A firebomb, made of a bottle of gasoline, with a rag for a wick, flew from a car occupied by Negroes. Flames gushed from a bar. Fire spread to another building.

Amid the crackle of flames, young looters carted goods from a jewelry store.

A Negro policeman trying to clear a street of Negroes said:

"I'm telling you now, if anybody shoots at me, I'm going to shoot back."

National Guardsmen were requested Tuesday afternoon by Mayor Ralph S. Locher who decided to ask for help after saying earlier he would not call for the National Guard.

Started at Car

Trouble started at a bar Monday night in the two square-mile Hough section, where about 75,000 of Cleveland's quarter million Negroes live in rickety frame or dilapidated brick buildings.

How it started is not clear. One version was that white owners of the bar refused to give a Negro water. Another report was that a woman went into the bar and asked patrons for money, was ejected and returned with friends to loot the place.

Less than a month ago, violence erupted in a nearby area and a Negro boy was wounded by gunfire from a car carrying a white man.

Legislators Want Campaign Fund Data Faster, More Complete

MADISON (AP) — Legislators called Tuesday for quicker and more complete disclosure of political campaign contributions but could not decide what to do about it.

The Legislature's Committee on Election Law Reform held the second in a series of public hearings to consider proposals for reforming the state's election laws.

The committee includes the chairman of the Republican and Democratic parties, also mulled other methods to report receipts and spending of candidates during the campaign rather than after the election was decided.

Short Circuit in Battery Charger Leads To Portage Tot's Death

Dora Jean LaVigne, 4, died when she touched the car's bumper while the vehicle's battery was being recharged with equipment having a short circuit, officials said.

N. Vietnamese Fire SAMs at U. S. Aircraft

Tuesday reported by the U.S. military command, a company of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division killed 51 Viet Cong in the Ho Bo Woods 21 miles northwest of Saigon. The U.S. command said the American company suffered heavy casualties.

The enemy force, in an unusual appearance in camouflaged uniforms and steel helmets, advanced within 15 yards of the U.S. infantrymen before being repulsed, a U.S. spokesman said.

During the five-hour battle the Viet Cong shot down a U.S. Army Gunship helicopter.

Fears for the fate of American fliers captured in North Viet Nam increased with reports from Peking and Prague that the North Vietnamese ambassadors there had said the airmen would be tried as war criminals.

Ho Writes Thomas

While U.S. officials and members of Congress warned in Washington of tough American response to mistreatment of the airmen, the North Vietnamese news agency published a letter by President Ho Chi Minh to American Socialist leader Norman Thomas promising humane treatment of the captives.

Thomas said he wrote Ho July 13 warning Ho that execution of U.S. fliers would have "disastrous effects" on efforts to expand the peace movement in the United States.

Ho replied: "Thank you for your message. No doubt you know that the policy of the government of the democratic republic of Viet Nam with regard to the enemies captured in war in a humanitarian one. Wish you good health."

Pope Paul's Plea

Pope Paul VI followed U.N. Secretary-General U Thant and other world leaders in an appeal on behalf of the captured fliers. The pontiff told his weekly general audience at Castel Gandolfo, outside Rome, he felt obliged to ask the North Vietnamese government to "furnish those prisoners the safety and treatment provided by international rules, in each case applying those norms favorably and justifiably."

North Viet Nam's charge d'affaires in Laos, Nguyen Chan, said in Vientaine, "There are no American prisoners of war in North Viet Nam. They are all war criminals."

U.S. pilots flew through the record barrage of missiles Tuesday to bomb six oil depots and other targets in North Viet Nam. The previous high number of SAMs sent up was 16 on July 5.

"Telephone Poles"

In the past 15 days, U.S. pilots have spotted at least 90 of the 35-foot flying telephone poles, but the plane lost Tuesday was the first in the period credited to a missile. The success of U.S. airmen in eluding the rockets is attributed to effective flying tactics and electronic jamming of the missiles' radar guidance systems.

During the raids on the North Tuesday three MiGs pounced on a flight of U.S. Air Force F-105 Thunderchiefs and shot down one of the American planes. Other MiGs joined the dogfight and the Pentagon said two of the MiGs were destroyed. A U.S. spokesman said that damaged a third of the attacking MiGs without a loss.

The other U.S. plane shot down was a Navy F-8 Crusader. A U.S. spokesman acknowledged it was downed by a missile from the ground 23 miles south-southeast of Hanoi during an attack on the Co Trai bridge.

Both U.S. pilots were listed as missing. A total of 295 American planes have now been reported lost over North Viet Nam.

Dodd, who stayed away from Tuesday's hearing, previously had sworn the purpose of his six-day trip to Germany was to investigate the Soviet terror apparatus.

Klein said that when he learned Dodd was going, he encouraged him to make the trip and to counter "distortions" in the German press about a 1963 Senate Foreign Relations Committee probe of foreign agents.

However, he testified that not a single one of his West German clients who had cancelled their contracts after the 1963 investigation had been "salvaged" as a result of Dodd's trip.

The present building and filtering system are in excellent condition and could be left unaltered. If funds permit the work [illegible] commenced immediately after Labor Day or at least in time to reopen next June. On a statewide basis about half of the welfare programs are entirely county administered. Having both city and county programs results in much duplication of effort and the city of Appleton contributes more than half of the funds used in county welfare. The merger or abolishing city welfare could result in economies of $20,000 to $30,000 per year and also result in a better coordinated program."

Site of Hitler's Nazi Meetings Being Cleared

Housing Project Going Up in Field Of Reich's Pride

By HANNS NEUERBOURG

NUERNBERG, Germany (AP) — Dynamite, bulldozers and cranes are grappling with Germany's most monumental heritage of the Nazi era.

Ancient Nuernberg, once the proud site of Adolf Hitler's annual party conventions, has begun to tear down what he ordered built for eternity.

During the next 10 years, contractors and gardeners will turn most of the 2,500-acre convention grounds into an area of bungalows, apartment houses, parks and lakes.

Only the largest building, the party Congress Hall, is likely to remain standing as a most conspicuous memento of the "thousand-year reich" that lasted just 147 months.

German army engineers joined civilian demolition crews in blowing up six massive towers of travertine rock that were to ring the Maerzfeld parade grounds. In area, the 250-acre field was the most spacious of the party convention facilities. Like all of them, it was never finished.

Out of Prison

Maerzfeld was designed by Albert Speer, later ammunitions minister, who this fall completes a 20-year-term in prison. It was to be the site of massed military displays and an assembly area for the hundreds of thousands marching past the Fuehrer.

Only 11 of the planned 26 towers were built, each 111 feet high. The plans called for 500 swastika flags, each 60 feet long, to be hung between the towers during conventions. Elevated tunnels of concrete connected the towers for easier movement of the banners and other equipment around the field built to hold three million.

The towers are making way for a modern suburb. The community of Langwasser already has 15,000 inhabitants but needs room for 50,000 more between now and 1975.

Total cost of the 15,000-apartment Langwasser project is estimated at $375 million by Joseph Haas, head of the city-owned housing company in charge of the venture. The sum includes a shoestring $150,000 for bringing down the Maerzfeld towers.

Removing the rubble of the blown-up towers—many of the rocks are cubic yard size—was thought too costly and difficult. The solution was to make them form the base of little hills, to be planted with shrubbery. These hills are to enliven the level area and also to subdue the noise of cars on a nearby thoroughfare.

Demolition of the towers cannot be completed until mid-1967 because part of Maerzfeld is still used as a parking area for U.S. Army planes and helicopters. The planes land on Grosse Strasse, the parade avenue of once marched 50 abreast.

At the end of Grosse Strasse rises what Hitler once described as an "eternal witness" of the Nazi movement. It is Kongresshalle, a gigantic, horseshoe-shaped roofless building. Only two of the projected four stories lining the hall were finished when the war stopped all work on the convention grounds in 1943.

Famed Restaurants Destroyed by Fire

HONOLULU (AP) — Donn Beachcomber's and Christopher's, two Waikiki restaurants, were destroyed by fire recently. Damage was estimated at $250,000.

quit carpentry and left Johnson, saying he was homesick for Texas. But he didn't leave town then.

Moved to Hotel

He moved to an $8-a-week room in the Christy Hotel where manager Houston Hickerson said, "He read a lot, drank some, and was in his room by 10 o'clock each night."

Chief of Police Harold Tinder noted that the idling Richard Speck was unaccountably seen in the neighborhoods where burglaries were reported. He talked to Richard who seemed to have a friendly desire to help, but shifted to other subjects.

"He was a disarming man to talk to," Chief Tinder said. The chief's interest increased, but he had no substantial evidence against Speck. He sent to Texas police and the FBI to find out whether Richard had any previous trouble with law-breaking.

One of the housebreakings involved an attempt by the intruder to rape a 65 - year-old woman at knife-point.

Monmouth Doesn't Recall Notorious Son

MONMOUTH, Ill. (AP) — In the span of time it takes for headlines to echo around the world, 25 - year - old Richard Speck has become Monmouth's most notorious native son.

Until Saturday, when he was identified as the prime suspect in the mass murder of eight student nurses in Chicago, there were few in Monmouth who knew or remembered the sometime seaman, drifter and ex-convict.

The exceptions were his family — a few acquaintances — and the Monmouth chief of police.

Speck had not been in Monmouth for some 14 years when he suddenly reappeared late last winter and contacted his brother.

When he left, it was under the cloud of suspicion. He was wanted for questioning about several housebreakings, an attempted rape and murder.

He was the youngest son of Frank and Mary Margaret Speck. Frank Speck was a carpenter, and he died in 1946. The Specks had daughters also.

Moved to Dallas

After her husband's death, Mrs. Speck left Monmouth to live with relatives in Dallas, Tex., where Richard had his schooling after first grade, and until he dropped out of ninth grade. Mrs. Speck remarried and now is Mrs. Mary Margaret Speck Lindberg.

A schoolmate recalls that Richard was known to classmates as "Lindberg."

"He was kind of a wild kid," a classmate recalled. "He didn't seem to care about anything."

Richard had indifferent success trying to make a living at unskilled work, and his efforts to get money without working for it got him, finally, into the penitentiary at Huntsville, Tex., on charges involving burglary and forgery, under a three-year sentence.

He behaved well in prison and got out before serving his full sentence, but he went back later to do the full time after he was accused of an assault, with an apparent robbery motive.

Brother Killed

Freed, he returned early last March to Monmouth where his brother, Howard William Speck is a carpenter, well liked and respected. His only other brother, Robert, who was killed two years ago in an auto accident, had worked in the pressroom of the Monmouth Review-Atlas.

Howard helped his younger brother and tried to get him squared away at the carpentry trade. Richard began work with the Oscar Neal Construction Co. as an apprentice, and stayed with a friend of Howard's—Elmer Johnson, a barber.

But after two weeks, Richard

4,774 Watch Quincy Defeat Foxes, 3 to 1

Abarbanel Slated to Hurl Tonight

BY TIM PETERMANN
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Hits were at a premium in the Fox Cities Foxes' game with Quincy at Goodland Field Tuesday night and for most of the 4,774 fans in attendance the biggest hits were probably not in the contest itself which the Cubs won, 3-1, but in the pregame ceremonies.

The second largest crowd of the season topped only by the 5,006 at Puppy Night against Burlington June 27 turned out and was treated to more than a half hour of entertainment before the game. This included a judo demonstration, ventriloquist Bob Miller and the AAL Male Chorus.

Tonight southpaw Mickey Abarbanel, who has yet to pick up a win in the second half of the Midwest League's split season, will take the mound for Foxes' Manager Stan Wasiak in the middle tilt of the 3-game set with Quincy. Mickey's credentials include a 9-3 record with 150 strikeouts to lead the league and a 2.57 earned run average.

The Foxes, who managed only three hits off the All-Star pitchers the previous night, had just as much trouble last night as they nicked the two Quincy hurlers for just four safeties.

Held to 3 Hits

On the other hand, the Foxes' pitching corps, which allowed but four hits in shutting out the All-Stars, held Quincy to three hits. The Cubs collected two of them in the second when they struck for a pair of runs and the other was in the third. The final six innings the Cubs were held hitless.

LeRoy Haynes walked leading off the second and Spencer Davis followed with a double to left field that moved Haynes to third.

John Hairston grounded out to deep second with Al Kristowski having no chance to get Haynes, who crossed the plate with the first Quincy run.

Davis, who had gone to third on the play, came home on Billy Johns' sacrifice fly to center.

The Foxes had a chance to come back in their half of the inning as a hit and two walks loaded the bases with two out, but Quincy pitcher Craig Glassco struck out Jim Magnuson to end the threat.

Strong Wind

The Foxes did manage to tally one run in the sixth. "Deacon" Jones walked after one was out and George Hunter hit a high popper in front of the plate. Cub first baseman Billy Johns called for the catch, but the wind, which was blowing very strong in from center, carried the ball so that it almost hit catcher John Hairston and it dropped in for a base hit.

Glassco uncorked a wild pitch advancing both runners and then as he was about to throw another pitch the ball popped

Pavletich's Homer Boosts Reds Over Cubs in 18th, 3-2

Farrell Bats, Hurls Astros to 8-2 Win; Cards Outlast Braves in 12

By ED SCHUYLER Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Philadelphia Phillies knew before the game that the outfield grass in the Astrodome had been changed, but it's doubtful if they were ready for the change in Houston pitcher Dick Farrell.

Farrell scattered eight hits Tuesday night as the Astros climbed to one game above the .500 mark by beating the fourth place Phillies 8-2.

But the change in Farrell didn't occur on the mound — where he has always been respected — but at bat — where he never has been feared.

The veterans right-hander belted two singles and his first homer since 1962 in four trips to the plate. The homer came with two men on in the sixth and gave the Astros a 7-2 lead.

The three hits gave him four in 32 at bats for a .125 average, and the victory was his fourth n 10 decisions.

The game was the first played on a surface which consssted of artifical grsas in th eoutfeld ais well as the infield. The nylon on a surface which consisted of artificial grass in the outfield as well as the infield. The nylon surface has been in use in the Astrodome's infield all season.

Most of the outfielders didn't think the fake grass would make much difference. But left fielder Tony Gonzalez of Philadelphia didn't like it.

Bounces Like Rubber Ball

"The ball bounces like a rubber ball," he said. "You can't hold your footing. It's hard to stop when you charge the ball. They should have left it like it was."

In the only other National League games, Cincinnati edged the Chicago Cubs 3-2 in 18 innings, the longest game in the majors this year, and St. Louis

Second Choice Of Cardinals Leaves Camp

"Apparently he decided to quit professional football," a club official said after being notified the 300-plus pound defensive tackle from Michigan State had left.

Cardinal President Charles (Stormy) Bidwell said Lucas had been under orders to trim down to a playing weight of 280 pounds by Thursday.

The burly lineman left camp after breakfast, but Bidwell did not learn he had lost his high-priced player until Norman McIntyre, Lucas' attorney, phoned later from Cleveland.

Contract Voided

Bidwell said Lucas' reported $300,000 salary-plus-bonus, no-cut contract had been voided.

Bidwell said the massive tackle had been paid very little money, at Lucas' request, for tax reasons. "Now the contract is void."

"We feel that he has quit and if he is claimed by another club, he will go for the $100 waiver price," Bidwell said.

McIntyre, a Michigan State alumnus, said Lucas had been ball. "He hadgrowntolikefootball. "He had grown to like football less and less and his decision to leave had nothing to do with his present situation with the football Cardinals," McIntyre said.

"He said he couldn't get into the right frame of mind to make the sacrifices required to play pro football," the attorney said.

Meanwhile, Coach Charley Winner expressed concern over his defensive line. Only last week he lost veteran lineman Luke Owne, the club's most valuable player in 1963, because of a strained heart muscle.

Tornowske Named to Post at Eau Claire

EAU CLAIRE (AP) — Dick Tornowske, whose football teams had a 19-4-1 record at Baldwin-Woodville, was named football coach today at Eau Claire Memorial High School.

Tornowske, 26, a former baseball and basketball start at Memorial, is a University of Wisconsin graduate. He replaces Jim Bollinger, who took a similar post in Wausau.

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Defending titlist Carol Jean Sorensen won an extra-hole match to lead the favorites through the first round of the Wisconsin State Women's Golf championships Tuesday.

She, four - time winner Mrs. Marilyn Klumb Williams and six-time champion Mrs. Paula Clauder faced tough opposition in the championship flight's second round today.

Miss Sorensen, 18, of Racine, was forced into a 19th-hole contest by Kathleen Curran of Antigo. She parred the 19th for her 1-up victory after firing a shabby 43 on the first nine.

Having been down 3, she evened the match by the 17th hole on which Miss Curran had a bogey 5. They halved the 18th when Miss Curran missed a 15-inch putt.

Drove Into Trees

On the 19th, the Antigo challenger drove into trees, and finished with a 5 as Miss Sorensen sank a 10-foot putt for 4. Each shot 82 for 18 holes.

In the second round, Miss Sorensen faced Mrs. Leroy Weir of Waukesha, a championship - flight regular who defeated Mrs. Polly Erickson of Madison 2 and 1.

Mrs. Williams, the tourney medalist playing her home course at North Hills Country Club, defeated Nancy Stefani of Kenosha 6 and 5.

Mrs. Clauder eliminated Mrs. William Hollingsworth of Sheboygan 2 and 1, while Mary Beth Nienhaus of Appleton defeated Mrs. Kathy Bonner Urness of Port Washington 6 and 4.

Mrs. G. B. Bower, Waterford, stopped Carol Van Beek, Green Bay, 5 and 3.

Mrs. Rita Houston, Green Bay, eliminated Marilyn Spicuzza, Milwaukee, 4 and 2, and Mrs. Earl Newman, Milwaukee, defeated Joan Kulow, Milwaukee, 5 and 4.

Other second - round pairings were:

Watt Homers, Hurls Orioles To 13-3 Victory Over Detroit

Twins Sweep Double Bill From Senators; Chisox Nip Indians

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

There isn't much the American League can do about Frank Robinson, Brooks Robinson, Curt Blefary, Russ Snyder and the rest of Baltimore's slugging Orioles. But at least Eddie Watt is out of the way.

Watt admitted he wasn't ready to join the Orioles' slugging society quite yet Tuesday even though he walloped the first major league home run while pitching Baltimore to a 13-3 rout over Detroit.

"I hit one a year," Watt said after the game. "The pitch was in the one spot where I could hit it out."

Watt's first major league homer was the fourth of the night for the Orioles, who pounded four Detroit pitchers for 19 hits. Those conventional sluggersn Frank Robinson and Blefary, whacked the first three with Robinson's 24th and 25th driving in five runs.

The rout stretched Baltimore's first place bulge over the Tigers to 9½ games.

Watt, a rookie reliever, went the distance in his second start of the season, scattering eight hits. He struck out seven and raised his record to 7-1.

Both Brooks and Frank Robinson ripped three hits apiece and Snyder, the American Leagues' leading hitter, stroked two hits and raised his average to .336.

In the only other American League games played Tuesday, Minnesota swept a doubleheader 5-4 and 4-0 from Washington and Chicago edged Cleveland 5-4. Kansas City at New York and California at Boston were postponed by rain.

Three Run Shot

Robinson's first home run of the night was a three-run shot in the first inning as the Orioles hopped on Detroit starter Earl Wilson. He hammered No. 25 in the fourth inning after Watt had singled.

Blefary and Watt homered in the sixth against Johnny Podres.

Both Robinsons left the game in the seventh after collecting their third hits of the game. Until he was replaced by a pinch

Sutton Hurls 1-Hitter in Mac Tourney

MENASHA — Don Sutton hurled a one-hitter as Oscar's, of Fond du Lac, stopped Neenah's St. Gabriel, 5-2, Tuesday evening at Jefferson Park.

Dick Wahlgren pitched a 2-hitter to lead Menasha's Jitters to a 4-1 win over Appleton's Maritime in another contest of the second round of the Mac Softball Tournament.

The third game Tuesday was won by Neenah's Frank and Pat's by a score of 7-3 over Piggly Wiggly, of Oshkosh.

Falcons, Bears Hit Stalemate Over Morris

Linebacker Would Like to Play in Atlanta This Season

BLACK MOUNTAIN, N.C. (AP) — Larry Morris, Chicago Bear linebacker, wants to play with the Atlanta Falcons — and the Falcons want him to bolster their defensive corps — but negotiations between the two teams have reached a stalemate.

Bears' Owner-Coach George Halas called the Falcons' offer Tuesday "an insult to Larry's football ability."

Atlanta Coach Norb Hecker, however, said, "It is what we consider a very fair offer. It is the best we can do and now it is strictly up to the Bears."

Morris, 32, a 12-season National Football League veteran, has asked to be traded to the Falcons in order to be close to his real estate business at Decatur, a suburb of Atlanta.

Equitable Return

"What the Falcons have offered," Halas said, "cannot be described as an equitable return for Morris."

Neither Halas nor Hecker indicated what the Falcons had

Gillingham Fractures Hand

GREEN BAY (AP) — Two casualty reports cast shadows across the Green Bay Packers' training camp Tuesday, one of them serious and the other evidently temporary.

Gale Gillingham, one of the Packers' No. 1 draft choices, was reported to have suffered a broken hand while practicing with the College All - Stars in Evanston, Ill.

A Packers spokesman said Gillingham, sent to Green Bay Tuesday, probably would miss the All-Star game against the Packers Aug. 5.

Not Serious

All-Stars coach John Sauer said Gillingham apparently suffered the hand injury in the opening day of practice, but had said nothing believing it was not a serious injury.

The metacarpal bone of the right hand was fractured, Sauer said.

The season's first injury at the Green Bay camp involved veteran end Bob Long who twisted his right knee. He left the field under his own power, however, and Coach Vince Lombardi said Long was not injured seriously.

Gillingham's injury marks the second time in two seasons that All-Star activity has seen injury of a prize Packers rookie. End Allen Brown injured a shoulder a year ago and was lost to the Packers for the season.

Waukesha Boy Loses In National Net Test

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) —Michael Cahill of Waukesha, Wis., lost to second-seeded Jim Connors of East St. Louis, Ill., 6-1, 6-1 in the second round of the National Boys' and Girls' Tennis Championships Tuesday.

Watt Homers As Baltimore Trims Detroit

runner. Brooks had played every inning this season.

Jim Perry allowed just two infield singles and drove in two runs as the Twins completed their sweep against Washington.

Perry retired 17 of the last 18 batters he faced and struck out five.

Cesar Tovar, who raced home with the winning run on Harmon Killebrew's eighth inning single in the first game, also drove in two runs in the nightcap.

Jim Kaat weathered a 13-hit Senator attack to win his 13th game in the opener.

Arm Stiffens

Pete Richert had a 4-2 lead on a two-hitter through six innings but had to leave the game when his arm stiffened. It was Richert's first appearance since the All-Star Game. After that game, Washington Manager Gil Hodges criticized Minnesota's Sam Mele for overworking Richert in the bullpen.

Pinch hitter, Smoky Burgess delivered a sacrifice fly in the ninth inning, lifting the White Sox past the Indians.

Cleveland continued its slugging surge with homers by Fred Whitfield and Chuck Hinton. Jerry Adair had a two-run homer for the White Sox, who tied the score in the seventh when Tom McCraw walked with the bases loaded.

Waupaca and Clintonville coasted to easy victories in American Legion action Monday night in the Central Division of the Fox Valley Legion League.

Clintonville, which has captured the Central Division title, came from behind twice and trounced Weyauwega, 11-4, and Waupaca closed out its campaign by ripping Manawa, 11-5.

Gordy Stevenson, Lee Raddatz and Dan Neumeier shared mound duties for Clintonville, giving up only four hits, striking out seven and walking the same number. Raddatz picked up the win.

Londell Behm went the distance for the losers. He was tagged for 12 hits, walked one and fanned one. His teammates committed 10 errors.

John Perrault had four hits in five trips for Clintonville, including a double, while Joe Williamson and Dan Neumeier added a pair of safeties.

Jack Montgomery cracked a 3-run double for the losers.

Rick Riddle was nicked for six hits in his route-going performance for Waupaca. He set down 12 batters on strikes and issued only two walks.

Waupaca slapped out eight hits against three Manawa hurlers, two each by Terry Martin, Lon Sherman and Dan Peterson. One of Martin's hits was a double and Peterson had a triple.

Gary Hass doubled twice for the losers.

Wilson Fines 6 Veterans for Missing Curfew

ST. PETERSBURGH, Fla. (AP)—A 10-minute violation of the 11 p.m. curfew has cost six veterans who had just reported to the Miami Dolphins' training camp $100 each.

Coach George Wilson of the new American Football League team gave the men the choice Tuesday of paying the fine or working it out in a painful way.

All except Alfonse Dotson attempted to work out the penalty but changed their minds after doing a crab walk (on hands and toes backwards) the length of the training field.

If they had decided to go, Wilson said, they would have been given other stunts — such as somersaulting and rolling the 100 yards.

Proposes Reduction to 144 Games

Orioles' Dalton Blasts Long AL Schedule

BALTIMORE (AP) — An executive of the Baltimore Orioles, risking sharp rebuttal from his counterparts on other American League teams, suggested today the baseball season should be shortened.

"This is something I have felt for a long time," said Harry Dalton, an Oriole vice president and the club's director of player personnel. "The fans feel the season is too long, and the players know it's too long."

Brooks Robinson, Baltimore's All - Star third baseman, has complained during the past week about the long season, including the practice of scheduled mid-season exhibitions and night games on getaway days while moving from one city to another.

"I'm completely behind Robinson's statements," Dalton said. "But Brooks was only sniping at the side effects of the basic problem.

"The basic problem is that the schedule is much too long. I think the American League schedule is a bad schedule."

"That statement should make me real popular with a lot of owners and executives around the league," Dalton added.

The Oriole executive proposed cutting the season from 162 to 144 games, and chopping about four weeks off the schedule.

"It is true that a season opening on April 20 and closing on Sept. 20, with an increased number of single-game dates would slightly reduce the number of open dates," Dalton said. "But with the span of the season reduced by nearly one month, the necessity and demand for open dates would decrease."

Trying to Make Money

Dalton acknowledged such a plan which Oriole majority stockholder Jerold Hoffberger backs, would diminish income slightly.

"Everybody is trying to make money," he said. "But how much is enough money? I think to try to extract the last bloody penny is wrong.

"I do not think streamlining the schedule to 144 games would necessitate a reduction of the players' salaries at all. The game of baseball is strong enough to carry the difference."

Dalton said a more sensible schedule would give players a chance to lengthen their careers and improve the quality of baseball.

"If the schedule is more attractive and the ball players play better baseball because they feel better," he said, "I think you are automatically going to draw more people. When you present a game every night that produces top quality performance, the gate will take care of itself."

Astrodome's Synthetic Outfield Passes Test

HOUSTON (AP)—After history's first baseball game on a complete field of artificial grass, the Houston Astros' and Philadelphia Phillies' outfielders generally agreed Tuesday night it was all a matter of getting accustomed to it.

But there were some complaints about the Astrodome's synthetic outfield after the Astros came from behind to whip the Phillies 8-2 and break a five-game losing streak

"It's just like any other new field," said Astro right fielder Rusty Staub of the deep green carpet, dubbed Astroturf. "You will have to get used to it."

The synthetic carpet, made of long nylon strips zippered together, was first placed this spring on the infield only The outfield area's 90,000 square feet was covered last week during the break for the All-Star Game

Jim Wynn, Astro center fielder who hit his 15th home run of the season Tuesday, agreed with Staub that the players probably would adjust to the man-made grass, which cost a total of $240,000.

But Wynn was a little more critical, complaining the bounce of the ball has a slight "cut to the right." He also felt he lost a little running speed while fielding because of the softer surface

As was the case when the infield made its debut this spring, neither of the two errors committed in Tuesday's game could be blamed on the Astroturf.

Left fielder Lee Maye reported no difficulties with the outfield "It can't be any worse than the old field which was so hard," he said

In the Phillies' camp, right fielder Johnny Callison said he was "a little concerned at first, but you get used to it in a hurry"

Liner Gets Away

He said a liner by Bill Heath in the seventh got away from him "but it took a real short hop and surprised me It wasn't the grass, because I've had balls do that in other parks. It was much better than expected."

Maintaining that "They should have left it like it was," leftfielder Tony Gonzalez was the harshest critic of the Astroturf. "The ball bounces like a rubber ball," he said. "You can't hold your footing. It's hard to stop when you charge the ball."

Cookie Rojas, Philadelphia center fielder, said the bounce of the ball was "pretty true" although "it seems to come at you just as fast as when it was hit It just doesn't slow down"

Anderson's Blocking Sharp

Four Vying at Tight End Spot for Packers

GREEN BAY — One of the more intriguing showdowns in the Packers' training camp, still less than a week old, is rapidly developing at Ron Kramer's old stand, tight end.

At the moment, four major candidates loom for the position, which was vacated by Kramer following the 1964 season in favor of employment with the Detroit Lions which would permit him to spend more time at his Royal Oak, Mich., home, and shared during the drive to the '65 world championship by Marv Fleming, Bill Anderson and Boyd Dowler.

The fourth contender is, of course, the heralded Allen Brown, the soft-spoken Ole Miss alumnus, who sat out last season following shoulder injury in the College All-Star camp and is getting his first formal shot at the job, has exhibited some impressive assets, including exceptional speed and fine hands

Came in August

Based on the '65 finish, however, the incumbent at this point would appear to be Anderson, a quiet, thoughtful Tennesseean who came to the Packers late last August in a trade with the Washington Redskins.

Anderson, known to his colleagues as "Hobo," closed out last year's championship surge as a starter, and, it might be added, thus far shows little inclination to be dislodged

He has been blocking with authority in the limited contact the Pack has undergone to date, obviously a major requirement at his position, which has not escaped the attention of the coaching staff.

Anderson, who turned 30 last Saturday, attributes his good early start to a happy adjustment "I'm in better shape than I was last year at this time," says Bill, who at that point was returning to the pro football grind after a one-year absence as an assistant coach at his alma mater, the University of Tennessee.

"It took me a good while to get in shape last year — to get any reflexes," he soberly confided "I feel fine now"

And his weight? "After today (two strenuous drills) I don't know," Anderson admitted with a slow smile. "I was 230 this morning."

"I could be bigger," he added in reply to another question. "I'm probably not as big as I'd like to be for blocking. But I feel I can move better, and catch the ball better."

Would he prefer wide end (where he toiled for five seasons with the Redskins) to his present assignment? "Tight end is where I play best, I think," he said. "I've been playing there the last two or three years."

Obviously, it was suggested, there were no regrets over leaving the coaching field. "I don't miss it at all," Bill replied without hesitation. "I'm real happy here. It's the best thing that ever happened to me — coming to Green Bay I just hope I can stay around."

Falcons, Bears Hit Stalemate Over Morris

offered for the former Georgia Tech star, but sources in the Falcons' training camp here hinted the Bears asked for a high future draft choice and a highly regarded player from the Falcons in return.

Hecker said the club offered the Bears "what we can afford to offer."

Bud Erickson, an assistant to Falcon owner Rankin Smith, said, "What Halas wants is ridiculous. We certainly have a lot of respect for Morris' ability and would like to have him, but we have to consider his age and what we give up in return"

Erickson said Falcon linebacking presently "has been one of our stronger positions in practice." He said the foursome of Tommy Nobis, Bill Jobko, Ralph Heck and Marion Rushing is "certainly better than average in the NFL."

Record TV Pact For 'Westchester'

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — A record television contract has been sold for the $250,000 Westchester Classic, the world's richest golf tournament, for the next two years, the Professional Golfers Association announced Monday.

PGA President Max Elbin said Sports Network, Inc., had bid in excess of $200,000 for the telecast rights to the 1967 and 1968 tournament at the Westchester Country Club in Harrison, N.Y.

Hickerson Signs Pact For Ninth NFL Season

HIRAM, Ohio (AP) — Offensive guard Gene Hickerson has signed a contract to play his ninth season with the Cleveland Browns in the National Football League, the club said Tuesday.

The Browns, who went to two-a-day workouts Tuesday, still have seven players unsigned, but all are participating in training

Snead Scoffs at Youthful Pros' Power

By WILL GRIMSLEY

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Old Sam Snead is unwilling to concede any muscle to golf's new young breed but admits the kids are better around the greens

"This stuff about today's players out-driving the golfers of my day is hogwash," the drawling West Virginian said today during a break in a tune-up for his 25th PGA championship.

"They chip and putt better. They've learned how to score"

Snead and Denny Shute will tee off in the silver anniversary tournament for each when play begins Thursday for 171 professionals over the long Firestone Country Club course

Won in 1936

Shute won in 1936, Snead three times in 1942, 1949, and 1951. Only Gene Sarazen, with 29 appearances, has played in more PGA title events.

"I could win another one if I could get the 'ifs' out of my putting," Sam said "That's where these young guys kill us, around the greens.

"Twenty and 30 years ago, golfers didn't practice much on their putting After a round, they would go back to the hotel and live it up. These kids go back and practice putting on the wall to wall carpeting in their hotel rooms. It's their life, a serious business because there is so much money at stake"

Snead said he believed he and Jimmy Thomson could hit the ball as far as Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer but they never mastered the short game to the same degree.

Sam is 54, with a slight paunch, still is buil strong and has a swing that flows like molasses. "I'm about 30 yards shorter on my drives," he confessed

"One thing that bothers me about these present day guys—and I don't want to name them —is they are generally inclined to be too cautious

"They'll say I'm five under par, and I've got to protect that lead. They should say I'm five under, and I want to be seven under

"Palmer is the exception. He always goes for broke."

out of his hand and went behind him, resulting in a balk to score Jones from third

Maness then worked the unnerved Glassco for a walk and stole second but Tom Cottrell went down swinging to end the frame

Insurance Run

Quincy added an insurance run its next time at bat Hairston was safe as Maness' throw of a grounder pulled Hunter off first base. Ed Bruksch walked and Glassco hit a routine grounder to third but Al Kristowski pulled his foot off second too soon in the attempt for a force play and all three base-runners were safe

Jim Magnuson then let loose with a pitch that hit Tom Simon in the helmet and forced in the runner from third for the Cub's final tally.

Magnuson was lifted in favor of veteran Willie Hooker after hitting Simon. Magnuson gave up all three Quincy hits and the three runs as he suffered his third setback in four decisions

Hooker and Gary Schaefer, who were involved in the 4-hitter against the All-Stars, fired the last two and two-thirds innings, allowing no hits, walking one and striking out four.

Eighth Victory

The Foxes got all four of their hits off starter Craig Glassco who lasted seven innings and picked up his eighth win against four losses He issued five walks and set down six on strikes.

FOX TALES — The Foxes were hurt by the absence of two regulars, catcher Bob Von Eps and outfielder Bill Ozark Ike Melton

Von Eps sustained an injury making a diving catch of a popup en route to being named the most valuable player in the All-Sar game Monday night.

Melton, still recovering from injuries which have plagued him much of the season, came in as a pinch-batter in the seventh and rapped a long drive to left center which would have been an easy triple had he been able to run He limped for a double and Fred Rath came in and ran for him.

Tuesday's large crowd brought the total attendance for the year to over 43,000 and raised the average fans per game to 1,081

Ageless Merle Oberon Returns to Hollywood

Wealthy Veteran Actress to Portray Duchess in Multi-Star Movie, 'Hotel'

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Recently a Hollywood matron encountered Merle Oberon at a party and exclaimed, "Good Lord, you can't go on looking young forever."

"Of course not," replied the actress, "but why not try?"

She was born Estelle Merle O'Brien Thompson in Tasmania but don't ask how many years ago. Suffice to say that her first notable film was "The Private Life of Henry VIII" with Charles Laughton and that was 34 years ago.

After the lapse of a dozen years Miss Oberon is back playing a Hollywood role in the multistar "Hotel" she enacts a duchess to Monaco Rennie's duke. Her youthfulness naturally comes up in an interview and it is a subject she doesn't tire of hearing about.

Pleasing Compliment

"Of course people mention it a great deal," she smiled "but what woman wouldn't be pleased"

"Remaining as young looking as possible is good for everyone as long as they don't let it become a phobia It has never been that with me If I grow old, I grow old Meanwhile I owe it to myself, to God, and to those who look at me, to maintain the best appearance I can"

How does she manage it?

Exercise I swim every day of the year and do exercises in the water too I have swimming pools at all my homes here, in Acapulco, Mexico City and Cuernavaca

"I eat sparingly but wisely For lunch I will have a steak and fresh vegetables If I go to a large dinner, I will eat a little bit of everything"

Enviable Life

Admittedly, Miss Oberon leads the kind of life that most women would envy Her husband is the Italian-born Mexican industrialist Bruno Paglai, and they travel between their four houses, as well as to New York and Europe They have two children, 6 and 7

Both Paglai and Miss Oberon collect art

Miss Oberon also collects jewelry, and she is using her own in "Hotel" — $350,000 worth. A private detective protects the gems on the set

More acting for her?

"Yes, I want to work now," she said "I need the money for the children's home I support in Mexico"

Actress Merle Oberon, who played her first major film role 34 years ago, makes a dedicated effort to stay fit and youthful looking and doesn't tire of hearing about her appearance. "What woman would," she asks. (AP Wirephoto)

Cool Visit To Russia's Siberia

BY TV SCOUT

8-9 (Channels 4-5) — Siberia: A Day in Irkutsk is an excellent summer treat and a fascinating report on a city 3,000 miles deep in eastern Russia. Irkutsk, filmed for the first time by an American TV crew, is certainly not Miami Beach. But viewers may be surprised at how modern and prosperous it appears. Producer George Vicas follows a day in the life of a number of its more ambitious citizens (a railroad engineer; a lady doctor; an actress; a fur hunter; a Mongolian student and a factory worker) and winds up with a wedding celebration. There are fascinating glimpses of English being taught on Russian TV and a bear hunting trip into the 31-degree-below-zero Siberian forest, too. (Color)

6:30-7 (Channels 11-6-9) — The Bookworm, played with great zest by Roddy McDowell, shows up to plague Batman. He's a beauty, dressed in hand-tooled leather (bound like a good book, get it?), with a wide-brimmed hat that contains built-in reading lights. At episode's end, Robin, bound in a clock tower about to strike midnight, is about to learn "for whom the bell tolls." (R-Color)

6:30-7:30 (Channels 2-7-12) — Lost in Space has one of its better episodes featuring Mercedes McCambridge as a "space cropper" — a frontier-type squatter who doesn't fancy the invasion of outsiders like the Robinsons (R)

6:30-8 (Channel 5) — "The Inchworm's Got No Wings at All" on The Virginian has some interesting moments for viewers who enjoy backwoodsy chatter and rural drama Diane Roter, as Jennifer, has her best assignment, painfully trying to bring Stacy Maxwell, a frightened, shy, mentally disturbed girl, out of her shell. (R-Color)

7:30-8 (Channels 11-6-9) — Blue Light's hero, David March, has to face an old foe — Heinrich Elm who has escaped from a British prison and plans to turn March over to the Nazis This is a better-than-average mystery for the series as Werner Peters as Elm makes March walk a taut line. (R-Color)

8-10 (Channels 11-6-9) — "The Comancheros" on The Wednesday Night Movie is a rugged outdoor yarn with some spectacular scenery and John Wayne to boot. He plays a Texas Ranger out to infiltrate a band of Comancheros. Aiding and-or hindering him are: Ina Balin, Stuart Whitman, Nehemiah Persoff, Lee Marvin, Michael Ansara and Pat Wayne (John's son) (R-Color)

8:30-9 (Channels 2-7-12) — The Dick Van Dyke Show concerns a charm — Laura's ugly brooch (a family heirloom) that she accidentally drops in the garbage disposal. She and Rob are convinced it will bring bad luck until she can "unmangle it" and get it back to its original form — the shape of the United States of America. A funny episode. (R)

9-10 (Channels 2-7-12) — The John Gary Show is more country and western than usual. John's guests are Eddy Arnold, the Smothers Brothers and Faron Taylor. (Color)

9-10 (Channels 4-5) — "The Tiger" on I Spy is a growling, suspenseful mystery which mixes political intrigue and scientific hogwash with ease. Lew Ayres plays one of those heroic physicians the natives go wild over. In Southeast Asia they call him "The Tiger Who Walks Upright." France Nuyen and pals want him to help in the fight against the Reds but he only purrs. (R-Color)

Redistricting Ruling to be Topic of Study

MADISON (AP)—A State Supreme Court's decision calling for county board redistricting on the basis of population will be studied under an $18,000 federal grant, the University of Wisconsin said Tuesday.

The university extension's Institute of Governmental Affairs applied for the grant "because Wisconsin's recent reapportioning offers a good opportunity to study the impact of political change on rural areas," said Prof. Richard Stauber, who will direct the project.

The court said counties must follow the one-man, one - vote principle of districting, and cast out Wisconsin's 115-year-old unit-rule system.

Let's EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By Sylvanus M. Duvall, Ph.D. and Evelyn M. Duvall, Ph.D.

False It is often difficult to admit that one has been wrong, but by no means impossible One basis is the amount of group support we get If most of our friends disagree with us and think that we are wrong, we seem much more willing to admit it than if our friends support our conclusions. Sometimes the real problem is to persuade people to stand by their views against the pressures of the group.

Should stereotypes be avoided?

Yes— No— They have their place, especially in drama. The man who plays a strong role should have a good physical appearance and a strong, resonant voice The girl who plays a "sweet" role should appear docile and demure Trouble comes when we confuse drama with life We assume, for example, that a demure looking and acting girl will make an ideal wife Knowing how to tell the difference between a stereotyped appearance and real abilities is one of the most important things anyone can learn

The human mind is a storehouse of facts and feelings!

True— False—

True, some psychologists believe it is. In the mind, facts and impressions are sorted out, classified, and put into a kind of mental bin for future use. In memory we locate and haul out what is there Since our "filing system" is far from perfect, we often forget what we have until some occasion causes it to emerge Freudians say that often this "forgetting" is really a way of trying to lock up what we don't want and do not know how to get rid of.

Mix-and-Match

Ideas for Summer Desserts

By Lillian Mackesy POST-CRESCENT FOOD EDITOR

Have you discovered any of the new freezer desserts? They really are tremendous with their cool and light attributes, the perfect criteria for a dessert on a hot, summer's day. But one thing this threesome also will do . . . it represents a sort of fashionable mix-match food as the various ingredients come from the packages. What's more they can be used with each other to give infinite variety to desserts.

Better than that, these truly are desserts that even a child can make so long as she or he can read directions. They work, the dessert is an "ever-success" kind With the trio of one firm's now available, dessert variety even comes in a package

Chocolate, lemon and pineapple are the flavors of the freezer mixes. The package also includes sweetened graham cracker crumbs for the crust and sprinkle-on topping. Just add melted butter to the crumbs, cold milk to the mix. Combine them in any one of a number of ways . . . with or without flavorings . . . and pop them into the freezer until serving time.

The result is a rich, creamy dessert with a texture similar to ice cream. Except in the case of the desserts, they hold their shapes even after standing at room temperature, which makes it one up on ice cream.

An excellent choice of fixing one of the desserts is to prepare a Baked Alaskan Delight. Then there are always those cool, delicious pies made from either chocolate or lemony flavors. The Fruit Treasure Pie is made from this recipe.

For the Angel Food Cake, both oven and freezer are used The oven, of course, bakes the Raspberry Swirl Cake, prepared from a new cake mix with an excellent fruit flavor built right in it. Using this mix is a breeze . . . there's no worrying about an egg white mixture, no careful folding in of flour mixture.

Just add water to the mix and start whipping up the batter all at once in a minute's time. It takes only another minute to mix up the swirl batter . . . this is marbled through the cake batter to give the swirl effect. The cake's ready for the oven . . . pop it in and let it bake

When the cake's cool, top it with a colorful combination of raspberries and pineapple chunks, spread on the sides with sweetened whipped cream.

Pop the finished cake into the refrigerator or freezer and let it chill until serving time for a wonderful surprise Mix up the cake, then match it to one of the freezer desserts for a magnificent special

A new variation on baked Alaskan is this splendid one made with a new creamy freezer dessert mix on the market. This one's chocolate to make the ingredients a bit different. The mix also comes in flavors of pineapple and lemon.

This tall, cool angel cake is made with a new Raspberry Swirl Angel Food cake mix, topped with delicious fruit and whipped cream mixture which looks beautiful and tastes as it looks.

Food Prices Produce Pinch On Area Shoppers' Purses

Fox City housewives, browsing neighborhood grocery stores, wheel their carts down the crowded aisles and shake their heads in complaint at the high price of living. Contrary to reports that summer is the time for lower food costs homemakers are feeling the tugs at their purses.

The question they ask each other and their grocers is "why?" What are the reasons behind the present high prices?

Several area store managers presented their opinions and indicated general price tendencies.

Perhaps one of the most noticed 'higher than usual' prices is for head lettuce. Heads are small this year and the price is relatively high, ranging from 29 cents to 39 cents. "There is a definite shortage of and lack of quality in the product this year," said the manager of the A. and P. Store. The others agreed with him. The fact that drought and heat have greatly curtailed the market was stressed by the managers. One manager stated, "Where it should be cool, it's hot, and where it should be hot, it's cold." The market, therefore, has to raise the price. Wisconsin lettuce has been delayed by adverse weather conditions.

Hot, Dry Temperatures

One store is not stocking popular Big cherries, because it feels that quality is not there, the crop is short, and the price would consequently be too high. The shortage of the northern Wisconsin favorite is a result of the dry, hot temperatures. Although in season, the product is averaging a higher than usual 49 cents per pound.

All varieties of melon are popular as cool and colorful parts of menus during hot summer months. However, the "villian" weather has removed many of the quality products from the market. The watermelon crop from the southern part of the midwest was literally 'burned out' by abnormally high temperatures. As a result, a good watermelon is hard to find and those available are of small size The price is approximately 10-15 cents higher than usual, averaging from 79-99 cents, to make up for the loss However, there is an abundance of canteloupe and the Honey Dew melon has not yet reached the peak of its season.

Airline Strike

The popular peach is making its seasonal debut in the foodstores. The Colorado peach fell victim to the spring freeze and the supply was short, approximately one-fourth of the normal crop Michigan peaches were frozen out

The summer berry, from strawberry to blueberry, is a favorite ingredient in cooling desserts The strawberry season is fast drawing to a close, but the raspberry and blueberry have yet to hit their peak. Heat diminished the crop and many dealers relied on those shipped from other states. With the airline strike, these berries were made more costly.

The local bean season is fast approaching This is a touchy product as so many things can affect the bean market. Fresh beans are mainly brought in by individual farmers. Larger more commercial farms reserve their crops for the commercial canneries The forecast is that the price will not vary much from that in effect now, which is 19 cents per pound.

The vine-ripened tomato is beginning to appear in super market vegetable sections, but it does not hit the peak of its season until later in the summer It is, therefore, competing with the lower priced hot-house tomato Tomatoes cost anywhere from 29 to 39 cents.

Family Gardens

With the popularity of family gardens, one store is not stocking radishes and green onions. Others state that their prices on radishes do not vary They come to some stores already enclosed in plastic bags Price varies from 10 to 15 cents Green onions are plentiful presently.

The ever-popular Wisconsin cabbages" suffered a death blow under high temperatures Consequently, the usually large crops available to the consumer have disappeared from the markets.

Fresh produce is not the only merchandise highly priced this season. Consumers have found that meats are also uncommonly high Managers explain that there is a drastic shortage of meat in the area Much of the meat has to be shipped in from neighboring states. The forecase is that prices on pork will continue to be high until around October The cost of labor and the price of shipping add to the overall meat market.

All Diabetics Should Reduce Sugar Intake

BY JOSEPH MOLNER, M D

Dear Dr Molner My brother 50 ha diabetes and has lost considerable weight He takes three pills a day but his sugar count over 250 and the doctor says if it gets over 300 he could go into a coma That worries him but he still eats too much in the line of sweets Should all sweets be eliminated when taking pills to get the sugar down — M R

Yes they should minimize sweets of any That is best for anyone with diabetes Some who have mild case can handle a little sweet stuff if they compensate other ways Control of diabetic problems by testing sugar Your brother with a sugar over above 250 is not a mild diabetic

There are four ways of treating diabetes All aim at the same result Diabetes means that the body cannot use up the normal amount of sugar There fore treatment consists of allowing the body to get sufficient nutrition while still seeing that no excess sugar is allowed to accumulate in the body and in time cause complications

These are the treatments

1 Diet such that the body absorbs sufficient nutrition without accumulating excess sugar Diet alone works best for people who are too fat They have been eating too much They can cut down their food intake without being harmed They are in fact better

2 Pills (DBI and similar drugs which help reduce excess sugar levels

3 — Insulin which reduces the

sugar level not just by eliminating it but by putting it to useful purpose After all the reason why sugar accumulates is an inability to use it up and this inability results from lack of enough insulin to do the job

4 — Some combination of the above three ways

The diabetic who can use up only a limited amount of sugar must eat enough foods which will provide other nutrients He still must have the sweets he wants He also has to follow his diet rules so minerals Meat, bread, fruits and vegetables provide these Yet all whether in small degree or large also include ingredients which will be converted into sugar once they are digested

The diabetic must eat foods which in the end will give him what he needs for health yet at the same time not include more sugar than he can use up Thus sweet stuff — cake cookies confections — is what he has to avoid

Diet therefore is the basic part of treatment for every diabetic Pills which get rid of some sugar or insulin which uses up (constructively) some sugar can be effective only when used along with suitable diet The biggest problem in treating diabetes is convincing patients of this fundamental fact

When too much sugar accumulates in the system the risk is coma It does not necessarily occur at a level of 300 because other factors are involved be sides Your brother's doctor evidently has noted these other signs He has warned your brother Pills or even insulin do not mean that the patient can eat all he wants or eat all the sweets he wants He also has to follow his diet rules so he won't get more sugar than the medicine and his body can handle

Dear Dr Molner Can you refreeze bread cakes, cookies etc? I know you shouldn't refreeze meat and such — Mrs P

It is a safe general policy not to refreeze anything, but I see no reason why pastries cannot be refrozen specially if they are properly wrapped, since baking sterilizes them, and destroys harmful germs if any were present

Note to J R L and Friends There is no general rule as to where weight first shows up as fat or where you first lose it except this When you reduce the last place you gained fat is usually the first place you lose it

Never take a chance on diabetes' For better understanding of this disease write to Dr Molner in care of the Post-Crescent for a copy of the booklet Diabetes — The Sneaky Disease Please enclose a long self addressed stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling

MRS. MARLENE LOPAS SAVED $2.58

On One Grocery Order at Treasure Island

Mrs. Marlene Lopas, 2750 W. 8th Street, in Appleton, shops for a family of four.

TOTAL SAVINGS PROGRAM

Have you ever really compared grocery prices?

If you believe prices at all supermarkets are similar, then you've never shopped at the Treasure Island Food Department.

Here is what Mrs. Marlene Lopas said about a shopping comparison test she made:

"If you think of yourself as a thrifty shopper, you'll be interested in the results of a shopping survey I made at the request of Mr. Jim Kuster, manager of the Treasure Island Food Department here in Appleton After I purchased my regular order at Treasure Island, I bought the very same items at another large supermarket in Appleton.

I paid $30 23 for my order at T I. Food Department; but when I bought the identical items at a large chain store, my bill was $32 81.

The difference of $2 58 on the same groceries proves to me that I really do save with Treasure Island Food Department's Total Savings Program."

Make your own shopping comparison. Remember, Treasure Island Food Department's Total Savings Program is an exclusive pricing formula providing savings of approximately $40 00 per person, per year. Therefore, an average size family of five can save as much as $200 00 per year, and more.

Shouldn't you be shopping and saving at the Treasure Island Food Department?

Small Areas of The Home often call for the greatest share of decorating attention. This is especially true in bedroom and bath, where limited space creates problems decorators don't find when there is ample room for design. The boudoir rug, pillows and bassock, above; are completely washable. The center motif of the tone-on-tone design rug is borrowed from a Maltese cross. Decorative accessories, few in number, but well chosen, add shape, texture and pattern to the simply furnished bedroom.

Cranberry Coolers Offer Tasty Summer Refreshment

Summer's the time for fresh fruits and tall, cool drinks on warm days.

Some of the most refreshing healthful new ideas for these summer coolers use fresh fruits and the juice from one of Wisconsin's own agricultural products, the cranberry. This state is noted for its large production of the hard red berry, which formerly had been familiar only as a side dish with the traditional Thanksgiving turkey.

Cranberry juice — and its newly marketed cousin — cranberry-apple juice — offer the added benefit of being rich in Vitamin C. Besides blending it into combination refreshers with soft drinks, other fruit juices and tea, cranberry juice and its combinations can be frozen into sherbets or ice cream, or tasty popsicles for the children.

If you enjoy whipping up new summer refreshers in your blender, the next recipes will be musts in your summer drink file.

Cranberry-Apple Fruit Blender Drink

(Makes about 1½ cups)
1 cup cranberry apple drink
Any one of the following:
1 banana, sliced
1 peach (very ripe), peeled
1 orange, sliced
½ grapefruit, sectioned
1 pear (very ripe), peeled, cored and cubed
1 cup diced cantaloupe
1 cup diced watermelon
3 ice cubes, crushed
Sugar to taste

Put cranberry apple drink and one of the fruits into blender with crushed ice cubes. Whirl until smooth. Add sugar to taste and serve at once. Garnish, if desired, with the fruit from which you made the drink.

Cranberry-Apple Peach Cream

(Makes 4 servings)
2 cups cranberry-apple drink, chilled
1 cup sliced fresh or canned cubed peaches
1 cup peach ice cream
¼ teaspoon almond flavoring

Put cranberry apple drink and peaches into blender, whirl until smooth. Add ice cream and almond flavoring, whirl until smooth and creamy. Pour into glasses and serve at once.

Cranberry-Apple Pear Swizzle

(Makes 4 servings)
2 cups cranberry-apple drink, chilled
1 cup fresh peeled or canned cubed pears
1 cup lemon ice
Club soda

Put cranberry apple drink and pears into blender, whirl until smooth. Add lemon ice, whirl until smooth. Divide equally among glasses and add club soda to fill. Garnish with a slice of lemon, if desired.

Cranberry-Apple Cantaloupe Nectar

(Makes 4 servings)
2 cups cranberry-apple drink, chilled
1 cup diced peeled cantaloupe
1 egg white, unbeaten
2 tablespoons honey
¼ teaspoon allspice

Put all ingredients into blender, whirl until smooth. Pour into glasses and serve immediately. Garnish, if desired, with a sprig of fresh mint and a long spear of cantaloupe.

For those lacking a blender, cranberry juice still offers other possibilities for delicious drink combinations, both hot and cold.

Some Like It Hot

(Makes 6 servings)
5 cups cranberry-apple drink
1 cup (half a pint) heavy cream
¼ cup grenadine syrup
2 cinnamon sticks
6 whole cloves
2 teaspoons rum extract
Grated nutmeg

Combine cranberry apple drink, cream, cinnamon and cloves, heat just to boiling point. Stir in rum extract and remove whole spices. Pour into heatproof glasses and sprinkle with nutmeg.

Some Like It Cold

(Makes 6 servings)
3 cups cranberry-apple drink, chilled
3 cups bitter lemon or lemon soda, chilled
2 tablespoons lime juice
1 pint raspberry sherbet (optional)
lemon and lime slices

Mix cranberry-apple drink, bitter lemon and lime juice. Pour mixture into glasses. Top with small scoop of raspberry sherbet, if desired. Garnish with lemon and lime slices.

Hot or Cold. One of the newest fruit juice items on the market today — cranberry-apple drink — proves its versatility. And, it's ideal for mixing with other fruits, soft drinks and even tea.

A Kitchen Blender can be a magic wand to many delicious new taste combinations using cranberry or cranberry-apple juice and a fresh fruit. The experimenter is certain to concoct a variety of appetizing new drinks, pleasing to every taste.

Pill Can't be Given Blame For Everything

By SALLY RYAN

NEW YORK (AP) — The buxom bosomed belle is back. Some say it may be because of the birth control pill.

"We put two and two together," said Dan Garson, president of Lovable Brassiere Co. "We've been watching sizes go up the last two years."

Garson said size 34B always has been the biggest brassiere seller, but sizes 36B and 34C are catching up.

C cup sales are up about 20 per cent and for the first time are larger than A cup sales, reported Charles R. Carruth, Jantzen, Inc., vice president.

"And the D cup — that used to be only for older women," Carruth said. "A lot of younger women require them now."

Maidenform, Inc., also reported a swing to larger sizes — but only in the United States.

"It used to be 34B was the classic average size," a spokesman said. "About last year, we noticed it had gone up to 36B, and that we were selling more Cs and Ds.

Stay Same

"But abroad, it's been pretty static — 32A still is the best seller in Hong Kong and 38C and D in Africa."

The Food and Drug Administration says that birth-control pills may cause a swelling of the breasts similar to that of early pregnancy, but that it lasts only about three months.

A representative of a major pill manufacturer said his firm had no statistical information to support a link between the pill and bigger busts.

There have been, however, reports of tenderness and swelling which usually disappear, he said.

"I don't think you can single out birth-control pills as the one cause," said Carruth, general manager of Jantzen's Foundations Division. "Maybe it's the vitamins. It's a general upgrading of health.

"Younger people are larger and healthier. Women are taller, too. Maybe the pills add to it.

"But women have much bigger feet than they used to, too," Carruth said.

Your Problems

Child's Illness Expensive, but He's Worth Every Cent Spent

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was rocked by the letter from 12-year-old Danny. His mother would not give him money to go to the movies with his schoolmates because he had been sick a great deal and his illness had cost the family so much. His mother told him that because of the doctor and hospital bills he had run up, she wasn't going to be able to buy any new clothes for a long time, and they'd have to forget about a new car. Danny asked you how he could let his mother know that he loved her and that he was sorry he had caused them so much trouble.

I would like to address my remarks to Danny's mother.

Madame: If you feel that your son is too expensive, will you please send him to me? Being ill and confined to a hospital is difficult enough for a child who wants to be well and strong. To make him feel that he is a financial burden is just about the cruelest thing I've ever heard of.

Head stones in the cemetery don't hug very well. I know. I have three of them. Believe me, I'd gladly wear rags for the rest of my life and I'd give up riding in cars forever if I could have just one of my three sons in my arms this very moment.

You may not appreciate it, but you have been blessed with God's greatest gift — the love of a child. It is a mystery to me as I am sure it is to others how you have managed to raise such a wonderful son. He's a boy I bet he has a fine father. — Tulsa

Dear Tulsa: I received hundreds of letters expressing warm and wonderful feelings about Danny.

Since the vast majority of mail deals with trouble and grief, it was refreshing to receive so many sensitive expressions of love and compassion. It's a joy to know that my column is being read by so many beautiful people. My thanks to all of you who wrote.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a 17-year-old girl who is 5-4 and weighs 122 pounds. The problem is that these girls at church keep telling me I ought to lose about 15 pounds. I have asked several of the boys what they think and they all say I am just right.

Landers

The girls who keep telling me to lose weight look like flag poles. Do you think they are jealous of my shape? Should I lose weight? — Maryland Miss

Dear Miss: How do I know? You may be built better than this building, but through the mail it's very hard to tell.

A girl who is 5'4" should be able to carry 122 pounds nicely — but again, it depends on where you are carrying them. See your family Doctor and let him decide. He's a better authority than your girl friends.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You are a pretty sharp dame, but every now and then your reasoning breaks down — as it did in your advice to "Chambermatron."

You advised a wife to pick up after her sloppy husband, but suggested that she train her sons to pick up after themselves so their wives wouldn't have to write to Ann Landers. How can a mother teach sons to be neat if their father is a slob? — Another Chambermatron

Dear Another: Easy? No. But not impossible. Tell your sons that a wife can't retrain her husband because marriage is not a reform school. But she can — and should — train her children. And let them know they'd better not try to use their Dad's sloppiness as an excuse to be lazy because you will not tolerate it. And don't.

No teen-ager is as confident as he appears. Get clued in. Send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Dating Dos and Don'ts," enclosing with your request 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Restoration of Mansion Gets State-Wide Support

MADISON (AP) — Wisconsin's first lady, Dorothy Knowles, made a three-city tour by air Tuesday to promote a fund-raising program to refurbish the executive mansion.

Renovating the aging, weather-beaten mansion has been the pet project of Mrs. Knowles, an interior decorator. The theme of the drive is, "This is your house."

"I want to give the public a chance to participate in the exciting things we're doing," Mrs. Knowles said. "People keep stopping me on the street and asking me how they can help."

Cash and furniture gifts to the mansion have reached $120,000, accompanying $240,000 worth of state-financed structural repairs.

She said the home would be open for public tours several days each month starting next month. Structural work is nearly completed and interior work is expected to take another three months.

Mrs. Knowles plans to return to the mansion by Aug. 9 as rough work won't be concluded.

"They'll just move a bed in for me, a table and a lamp, and I'll hang sheets at the windows," she said.

"But I don't expect the governor to put up with that sort of thing. Most men can't stand that sort of confusion and my husband is no exception. He'll probably stay at a hotel," Mrs. Knowles said.

She displayed samples of fabrics during news conferences at Milwaukee, Green Bay and Madison.

An "absolutely magnificent" four-poster canopy bed with cream and red draperies is being made for the governor's room, Mrs. Knowles said.

Don't Strip Self of Emergency Cash by Paying Off Mortgage

BY MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

Dear Miss Feeley:

My husband and I are trying to figure out a situation, taxwise, which would give us the most advantage when we file our return for 1966.

We recently purchased a little home on which there is still a $6,000 mortgage. We had intended to pay cash for a house, after selling our home in Michigan earlier this year. But because this is an old loan and carries only 4½ per cent interest, we decided instead to just pay the existing mortgage and put our money in bank savings certificates which pay 5 per cent. We also thought that in case we might want to resell, it would be better to leave the mortgage on this new home.

However, my husband and I, who are in our 50s, love this little house and now plan to stay here permanently. We are wondering if we would be money ahead in the long run to pay off the mortgage now. (In September the loan will be 10 years old and can be paid off without penalty.) The mortgage has 20 years yet to go.

We have so far invested only about a quarter of the money we received from the sale of the Michigan home in this second house. Would it be to our advantage, taxwise, to have more of that money reinvested in a home?

Mrs. H.V.W., Phoenix, Ariz.

Dear Mrs. W.:

Profits made on the sale of the Michigan home will be taxable, come next year provided that this "little house" was not more expensive than the one you sold, and from what you say I'm assuming it was not.

While your bank savings certificates yield 5 per cent, these will not be a hedge against inflation. They are short-range investments. But when they become due, you could think about applying them to lower the mortgage on this second home, since it can be paid off or reduced any time from 10 to 20 years without penalty.

The major point to keep in mind is that flexibility of your finances is all-important. You don't tell me what amount of money you have on hand. You don't want to strip yourself of emergency cash in order to pay off that mortgage.

I suggest that if you have any funds coming in, put them into stocks which yield 4 per cent or more. The first $100 dividends on these investments are not taxable.

Dear Miss Feeley:

Recently a salesman came by my house. He offered 16 pictures, to be taken in the next eight years, for $69.95 — plus a free album with a postage charge of $3.39.

I agreed to take the offer. I have already received the album and paid the company $30. I have had no pictures made yet. I am now sorry that I made the deal and would like to cancel it.

I will be willing to lose the $30 and return the album. But the company says I must finish my payments. Can the company force me to pay the balance of $39.95 and hold me to the agreement?

E.S., Fredericksburg, Va.

Dear E.S.:

Once you've signed a contract, you've had it. That's why I keep saying in this column, put on your thinking cap when you open the door to any salesman.

I'm told that some states are giving serious consideration to a law which would allow for a "cooling off" period for those who sign contracts of this type. Only a lawyer could tell you whether your present contract is airtight.

(You can write to Mary Feeley in care of The Post-Crescent.)

Dear Miss Feeley:

I realize that, as a member of the Army Reserve of the United States, I am not entitled to the bnefits of the new G.I. Loan program.

Could you plase let me know if there is any other method by which I, as a Reservist, could obtain a loan for school, as well as a mortgage loan from a government or private agency.

H.G., "East Coast"

Dear H.G.:

I know of no way by which you, as a Reservist, could obtain any special loan privileges. Unless you've had a minimum of 90 days active duty, you just aren't eligible.

Factors to Consider When Buying Beef For Home Freezer

If you own a home freezer, changes are you've thought about stocking it with beef. Whether you plan to buy several quarters or a whole carcass there are several factors to consider if you want to be sure of getting the best buy for your money.

The way to be sure is to let beef for yield. The yield grades the U.S. Department of Agriculture and the help of USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service offers a grading program in which meat is not only graded for quality but also the amount of usable meat in a carcass or wholesale cut. There are five yield grades ranging from No. 1 to No. 5 found on carcasses of the lowest yield.

USDA's quality grades for beef. The side-shaped grade mark is an excellent guide to yield grade and quality.

For example, if you buy a 650 pound carcass, each higher grade will give at least 70 more pounds of boneless meat. There are similar differences between wholesale cuts and quarters of beef.

Decide on Use

If you plan to buy part of a carcass, you should decide whether you want to get more steaks and roasts or more stewing and ground meat. A hindquarter gives you more steaks — porterhouse, club and T-bone — and oven roasts. The forequarter will contain more cuts, such as those from the chuck, which must be pot roasted or made into ground and stew meat.

Another factor to consider is cost. Because they contain more desirable cuts, hindquarters generally cost several cents per pound more than forequarters of the same grade.

As a prospective buyer, you should also consider the cutting and processing of the meat. Make sure the meat is packaged in portions which fit the size of your family or which will be easy to cook. Most dealers will cut the meat to suit your needs.

Supermarket specials on particular cuts also offer a good way to stock your freezer with the family's favorites. Buying meat this way assures you of getting only the cuts you prefer.

Home freezers are designed to save money on grocery bills by allowing you to stock up on foods when supplies are plentiful and prices favorable. But buying beef in such cuts or of such quality that do not meet your family's preference can hardly be called money-saving. This is a pitfall which a consumer encounters when he buys beef in a form with which he is unfamiliar.

Other Pitfalls

The majority of firms are reputable in their dealings with customers and in their advertising. However, there are some who will take advantage of a customer who lacks a knowledge of the product he is buying.

Misrepresentation and "bait and switch" advertising are two of the most common practices the buyer must watch. Misrepresentation may include leading the buyer to believe he is buying a specific USDA grade, while, in fact, supplying him with meat from a lower grade animal or meat which has not been graded at all. Or, the buyer might receive meat from the forequarter instead of the hindquarter he thought he was buying.

"Bait and switch" advertising refers to the practice of advertising meat at a price designed to attract customers and then switching the customer to a higher priced meat.

Don't be taken in by advertising which offers "something for nothing." No dealer can afford to give beef away and reputable ones will not pretend to do so.

To be sure, look for the Federal grade mark on the meat itself. The grade mark is your assurance that the beef and that you are getting real value for the price you pay.

Hamburger: Good Buy For Easy Summer Meals

Hamburger, labeled "the daily grind" by many consumers, is often the best bargain at the meat counter. A popular and versatile meat, it makes a hearty family fare when your budget's in a squeeze or a dressed up meat dish to serve at a party.

Many and varied are the terms for ground meat. Do you know the different terms and what to expect of the product? In Wisconsin, legally the terms hamburger and ground beef are used synonymously and, by law, may contain up to 25 per cent fat and no more.

The following descriptions may help you to select ground beef for hamburgers, meat loaves, casseroles, plus other dishes.

Fat Content Varies

Regular ground beef is freshly ground beef made from lean meat and fat cut from a whole side of beef. You may recognize it by its speckled pink and white color. The speckling of white color indicates the fat and ground beef usually contains the 25 per cent fat allowance. Because of this fat content, regular ground beef is usually the lowest in price and is used primarily in casseroles and meat loaves.

Ground chuck is ground only from chuck meat, found in the front quarter of beef. If your family likes this flavorful meat and you desire economy and quality ground beef, place your order for ground chuck.

Ground round is the deluxe "hamburger" with a price tag to match its quality. Your meat market grinds it from lean beef round. When you order ground round you may want to ask for some suet to be ground in.

Estimate Servings

How much should you buy? A pound of hamburger makes four good servings; however, if you add other ingredients such as rice or vegetables you may stretch the servings to five per pound.

When storing hamburger for use the same or following day, wrap it loosely in waxed paper, with the ends open and refrigerate at once. For the freezer, wrap patties in freezer wrapper paper and store in the freezer.

This is the season for hamburger on the out-door grill, therefore, to obtain a good product — remember to purchase quality meat.

A Lovelier You

By Mary Sue Miller

For Lazy Girls

We girls make all manner of excuses for not exercising. "It's too hot!" is the popular gambit for the moment.

Well, here's an answer to that objection — a cool, effortless way to exercise. You perform while lying down, sitting down and standing still. All you have to do is flex your muscles. For the doing your musculature is toned and tightened, so that it is able to gird up fatty spots and flabby flesh.

To perform you need a small, hard cushion for use as an exercise prop. Not to prop your head on! When ready:

1. Stand erect and hold cushion straight up over head, between palms of hands with fingers pointing to ceiling. Press hard against cushion and, at same time, pull waist up and in. Hold for ten counts, relax and repeat twice.

Now lower cushion to forehead level. By pressing hard tense arm and chest muscles. Hold and repeat as before.

2. Sit on edge of straight chair, with feet on floor. Holding cushion with hand, center it between knees. Press feet to floor and briskly slap cushion with insides of knees. Thirty counts.

3. Lie back down, with knees bent and feet flat on floor. Place cushion between knees. Pressing knees to cushion, tense thigh and buttock muscles. Hold ten counts, relax and repeat twice.

Place cushion between ankles. Press and twist calves toward each other. Hold and repeat as before.

That way, almost every muscle gets a workout — without huff and puff on your part!

Here's an effortless way to trim off heavy spots. All you do is lie down or sit down, and flex your muscles. If that's for you, send for Lazy Girl's Exercises. Based on the isometric principle of exercise, routines trim head-to-toe figure. Write Mary Sue Miller in care of The Post-Crescent, enclosing a stamped, self addressed envelope and 15 cents in coin.

Exception To Rule Can Be Solution

"There is wickedness abroad, Watson," said Sherlock Holmes as he reached into his pocket for the handcuffs he always carried. The great detective had just watched today's hand when his alert eye spotted a crime.

West led the jack of spades, declarer put up dummy's queen, and East covered with the king. South refused the first and second spade tricks but had to win the third.

South next led a diamond, finessing with dummy's ten. East won with the jack of diamonds and returned a club. South put up the ace of clubs and led another diamond.

When the king of diamonds appeared South ran his nine tricks — five diamonds, two hearts and the two black aces.

Pick The Criminal

While Holmes is snapping on the bracelets, pick the criminal for yourself. Read on only after you have made up your mind.

The crime occurred when South led the first diamond from his hand. West must step up with the king of diamonds—or be branded as a criminal.

Declarer cannot afford to let West hold the king of diamonds, for then West would defeat the contract with the rest of the spades. But if declarer takes the first diamond trick in dummy he cannot bring the rest of the suit in.

It costs West nothing to make the play, for his king of diamonds is clearly useless when dummy holds the ace-queen. The king serves only to prevent South from ducking the first round of diamonds.

"Second hand low" is a good rule, but there are exceptions to all rules.

Daily Question

As dealer you hold: ♠ A 4 3 ♡ A K J 9 ◇ 7 3 ♣ A J 9 4. What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one club or one notrump. Many experts prefer to open with one notrump when they hold two small cards in a suit. Others are willing to bid one notrump if the hand is otherwise ideal. An opening bid of one club is better than one heart because you are more likely to find a partner who diamonds if you open with one club.

U.W. Course Explains Pitfalls in Borrowing

BY SYLVIA PORTER

A full 8 in 10 Americans today are unable to find their way through what one observer calls the "wonderland of credit where percentages multiply and divide at will, where finance charges materialize on command and fees are collected on the way out."

Even among the college educated, 4 in 10 borrowers do not know how much interest they are paying on loans.

Yet, not ever in modern times has the importance of understanding interest charges and loan practices been as great as now — when borrowing costs are at historic highs and loans are so tough to get.

How can the ordinary borrower detect hidden interest charges, avoid unsuspected loan costs? Today and until July 29, the University of Wisconsin's National Center for Education in Family Finance is holding its annual three-week workshop on methods of teaching consumer financial management. Also credit pitfalls are among the key subjects being discussed.

Guide to Pitfalls

Here, from the Center, and from other key sources, is a short guide to today's biggest potential credit pitfalls:

1) The add-on clause. The installment seller keeps title to an entire list of items bought on credit, e.g., 3 rooms of furniture. A single delinquent payment — even though all but one of the items have been paid off — could permit the seller to repossess the whole collection of furniture.

Porter

2) The balloon contract. The final payment is considerably larger than the previous monthly payments and if the borrower is not aware of this and is not prepared to meet the final payment, his purchase may be repossessed before he can produce the money.

3) Acceleration clause. Default in a single payment makes all other payments due and payable immediately.

Collects Paychecks

4) The wage assignment. This may allow the seller to collect part or all of the buyer's paycheck if he is delinquent on a payment.

5) Hidden clauses. An obscure provision in the credit contract may stipulate that the buyer purchase extra items he may not want.

6) No rate quoted. The seller simply advertises that an item can be bought for say, $5 down and $5 a month — without stating how many payments are required. Such a schedule obviously could imply fantastic interest rates. Even if the interest rate is quoted on a monthly basis, this may hide the much higher annual rates. For example, a 3 per cent monthly interest rate actually translates into a true annual rate of 36 per cent of the unpaid balance of the loan — or 72 per cent if it is based on the original amount of the loan.

7) Extra credit charges. These might come under the heading of life insurance, processing fees, etc., but they may add substantial sums to the total cost of borrowing. Lenders may list such charges separately in order to lure the borrower with deceptively low interest rates. Or the charges may just be excessive, wherever they appear.

The total of outstanding consumer debt today is approximately $90 billion — more than double the level of only 10 years ago. Last year alone, consumers paid a total of $24 billion in interest on loans of all types — more than double the amount the U.S. pays to finance its entire national debt.

It is so obviously crucially important to buy money wisely today — and to avoid the pitfalls of borrowing.

Carriers Vow Compliance With Rules

Trucking Group Notes Rash of ICC Prosecutions

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Noting a rash of prosecutions by the Interstate Commerce Commission recently for violation of regulations governing the operation of commercial vehicles on the highways, the Wisconsin Motor Carriers Association today called for "conscientious and dedicated compliance" on the part of the trucking industry.

The association's major membership consists of common carriers, under strict regulation of the state and federal governments.

It explained that many of the current prosecutions have been against private and contract carriers, with irregular routes.

The trade group said the federal rules for trucks often are difficult, complex, hard to understand, and controversial, but it reminded that their purpose is to make "interstate transportation safe and reliable."

The rules are made to serve the public interest."

In another bulletin, the association cautioned truckers to examine carefully the driving records of their recruits, be as cause incidents around the country show that courts and juries take such records into account in fixing indemnity awards in law suits growing out of highway accidents.

Several jury awards against trucking employers in recent times have clearly reflected the driving involved before they took jobs as truck drivers, it was said.

County Group Hears Institution, Highway Contract Proposals

Presentation Represents Start Of Annual Wage Negotiations

Contract proposals for 1967 for institutions and highway department employes were explained this morning to the Outagamie County Board's executive committee

The proposals were set forth by James Miller, representative of District 4, Wisconsin Council of County and Municipal Employes, signaled the start of bargaining negotiations between the local unions representing county employes and the county.

Miller said that because he simply was stating the requests today, he would discuss the proposals of both hospital and highway employes However, after bargaining begins, the demands would be reviewed separately, Miller said

20 Cent Increase

A 20-cent across the board increase, four weeks vacation after 20 years of service, and time and a half over-time pay are listed among the requests of highway department workers covered by the union

Other requests include a straight five-day work week (as opposed to the present split shift plan); an additional 10 cents an hour above the regular pay for highway section "leadmen" and payment by the county of 75 per cent of the employe hospital insurance plan

Hospital requests listed by Miller include a "complete revision" of the county pay plan which he said would be discussed in detail at the opening bargaining session; full payment by the county of the hospital insurance premium; compensation after eight hours a day or 40 hours a week; and the addition of a male attendant classification to the overall hospital classification system.

Miller explained there is a "definite need for male employes at the hospital." The low wage now being paid some male help there is hampering the hiring, he told the committee.

Miller suggested the county consider dropping the present longevity plan which covers some of the hospital employes He said there are some doubts about the merits of longevity.

County Board Chairman Sylvester Esler told the committee that negotiations should be held up until the J. L. Jacobs Co. submits to the county its report of wage and job classification review for the county.

Miller's union represents about 200 hospital and highway workers.

Bargaining sessions between the county and the unions probably will start next month

2 Supervisors Seek Informal County Talks

Members of Six Valley-Area Boards Suggested to Meet

"Informal get-togethers" of county board members from a six-county area was proposed this morning by two Outagamie County supervisors

The proposal by George Greisch and Eugene Kloes of Appleton was met with enthusiasm by executive committee members.

Kloes said the one-day affair could include Outagamie, Calumet, Winnebago, Shawano, Waupaca and Brown Counties.

Kloes

Primary aim of the informal gatherings, Greisch and Kloes said, would be to "discuss mutual problems and mutual interests."

Common Interests

"The exchange of ideas could be terrific," Kloes said. He cited regional planning as one of the common interests of the counties.

He continued, "It might restore some of the prestige and harmony this county has lost in all its fights."

Kloes said he has talked to officials of some neighboring counties and they have indicated an interest

Donald Bengs Named Acting Works Head

Donald C. Bengs, 524 E Byrd St., assistant director of public works, will temporarily serve as head of the Appleton Public Works Department after the resignation of Robert W. Bues becomes effective.

Bengs was unanimously voted acting director by the board of public works Tuesday afternoon. The appointment becomes effective Aug. 1, and will remain in effect until a successor is found for Bues.

The temporary appointment is expected to meet the approval of the city council.

Bengs also will hold Bue's seat on the public works board

Bues informed the street and sanitation committee Monday night that he still intends to resign as of July 31. However, Bues has vacation time coming and probably will be through working at the end of this week

Derailment Scene Returns To Normal, Work Continues

Electric Service Restored, Final Repairs Being Made

Work continued today on the recovery of logs and the repair of power lines at the site of a three-car train derailment which occurred Tuesday morning adjacent to E Newberry Street at the rear of Lawrence University athletic field

Three Chicago and North Western Railway Co. gondola cars, each carrying approximately 85 tons of logs destined for Consolidated Papers Inc., left the tracks dumping a portion of the logs into the Fox River

Cranes were used to lift the cars back onto tracks Paper company officials said that they expected no appreciable loss of logs Recovery of the logs is expected to be completed today

Side Effect

A side effect of the derailment resulted in a power outage at several Appleton firms. One derailed gondola struck a Wisconsin Michigan Power Co tower knocking loose a 34,500 volt transmission line

On impact, one leg of the tower was broken off and another was bent Power company officials said the loose line was de-energized before attempts were made to put it back in place.

About 12 15, the line fell on two 4,000-volt wires The power company contacted the Interlake Mill of Consolidated Papers Inc and with company officials' permission, took the mill out of service during line repairs

Without Service

Kurz and Root Co and the Appleton Mfg Co were also without power from 12 15 to 4 20, power company officials said They also said that several other concerns were without power for a short time Tuesday afternoon

Wisconsin Michigan crews finished temporary repairs at about 8 p m some of them working as many as 10 hours

The power company spokesmen said things were returning to normal today as permanent repair work was underway The Interlake Mill was without power for about an hour late this morning, they said, to facilitate repairs

One truck and one engine from the Appleton Fire Department stood by at the scene of the derailment Tuesday morning in case of fire caused by the high-voltage wires.

Razing to Cost $2,800 for Parking Site

Appleton Lets Contract for Work at Square

Razing of four buildings to allow for construction of Soldiers Square parking structure will cost Appleton $2,800

Berg and Henn Co., Inc., of Appleton was the lowest of three bidders who sought removal of the buildings The bid was approved Tuesday afternoon at a meeting of the board of public works

According to conditions in the contract, the buildings must be off the property by Sept 1 The new multi-level structure will occupy the block bounded by Soldiers Square, Lawrence, Morrison and Oneida streets

Construction on the ramp is expected to begin in September, following the opening of bids in early August

Contain Two Prices

Each of the three bids opened Tuesday contained two prices to the city — one covering removal of Elsner's Service Station by the owner and the other providing for removal by the contractor

However, Public Works Director Robert W Bues told the committee that the station has been sold to Zeh Motors, which intends to move the structure

Contractors and their bids are as follows, with the first price including removal of the station by the owner and the second price including removal by the respective contractor

Berg and Henn $2,800 and $2,995, Madison Moving and Wrecking Co of Oshkosh, $5,593 and $7,906, State Wrecking Co., Menasha, $2,987 18 and $3,387 18

Judge to Rule on Canning Firm Suit

Stokely-Van Camp, Plaintiffs Rest Cases in Circuit Court

Hearings on an injunction sought by the Town of Grand Chute and Outagamie County against Stokely-Van Camp Inc. ended Tuesday afternoon.

A decision is expected before the end of the week on the injunction.

County Clerk Mollie Pfeffer, appearing on the witness stand for the second time during the proceedings which began July 6, was the final witness to testify before acting Circuit Court Judge Urban P. Van Susteren.

Judge Van Susteren expressed a desire to meet with the counsel for both plaintiff and defense before handing down a decision.

The town and county are asking that Stokely-Van Camp Inc. be ordered to stop construction of a migrant labor camp on N. Casaloma Drive.

Two Decisions

Also awaiting the judge's decision are two matters which appeared after the hearing proceedings were started. A writ of mandamus was filed on behalf of the cannery asking the court order authorization of permits for construction of the camp.

The town, in turn, requested that the court quash the mandamus proceedings.

Three employes of the canning firm testified Tuesday. They were Henry Weiland, field supervisor; V. E. Quakenbush, manager; and Jon L. Sakamoto, assistant to the manager.

Grand Chute and Outagamie County, plaintiffs in the injunction proceedings, have been represented by attorney Don Herrling and corporation coun-

Old Garage Appraised At $45,000

Pierce Auto Body Has Made Purchase Offer to Appleton

The old city garage at the northeast corner of Spencer and Story streets has been appraised at $45,000

The appraisal figure on the 60-year-old building was revealed Tuesday afternoon at a meeting of the Appleton Public Works Board

The city has been negotiating with Pierce Auto Body Co., a firm which has offered to purchase the building An offer of $40,000 has been made

An Appleton appraising firm noted in a letter to the city that "the general condition of the building is poor." The appraiser said that the age of the building and the type of construction "limits its desirability and utility greatly."

"When property such as this sells, it is basically at the value of the land The cost of razing the buildings generally offsets the use value of the building," the city was told

The old city garage site has 151 feet of frontage on Spencer Street, 260 feet on Story Street and 346 on the east line The total site includes 45,753 square feet

Permit Issued For Addition to Telephone Office

KAUKAUNA — A building permit was issued Tuesday to Wisconsin Telephone Co. to construct a 36 by 43 foot addition to its plant at 129 and 133 W Wisconsin Ave. Cost of general construction was listed at $81,000.

Vandals Strike At Pierce Park

Vandals broke a window and towel rack, and overturned waste baskets, benches, tables, and playground equipment at Pierce Park sometime Sunday or Monday, according to an employe at the park.

A complaint filed with Appleton police said a slide was tipped and broken and a merry-go-round upset. The damage was reported at 9.20 a.m. Tuesday

Shoppers Invade Downtown For Annual Sidewalk Sale

Throngs of shoppers jammed the downtown area today as the Appleton Retail Association kicked off its sixth annual one-day sidewalk sale.

Merchants were moving merchandise onto the street before 7 a m and by noon the pace was beginning to tell on clerks as they tried to meet demands of the shoppers, officials said

Officials, who previously said the sale would be the largest in the association's history, renewed the prediction after the large turnout this morning.

The record number of persons taking advantage of the sale is a good indication the merchandise offered is saleable and priced right, officials said.

Though records are being broken, merchants along College Avenue said stocks are still in supply and top bargains would be offered until closing time at 9 p m

Seven blocks along College Avenue from Walnut Street to Drew Street are closed to traffic with only the intersections open for north and southbound automobile movement.

Coordinate 3-County Area

Fox Valley Planning a Must, Kiwanians Told

Outagamie, Winnebago and Calumet counties should increase their participation in the Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission members of the Appleton Northside Kiwanis Club were told Tuesday

Asked if county participation was vitally important to the commission's work, Ralph Risley commission chairman replied that the counties "should participate to a greater extent in the commission's area of jurisdiction."

He emphasized that the commission "has no ambition to have counties become members so that it can then do work all over the three counties." Risley said the commission would concern itself with planning problems in those portions of the three counties that are a part of the Fox Valley metropolitan area

Risley and Eugene Franchett executive director of the commission, described the work and structure of the commission at a noon luncheon of the club

Risley said one of the most important accomplishments of the commission has been its ability to get the various municipalities in the Fox Valley to work together to solve common problems

He warned that the area is going to experience many growing pains in the future, noting that the Valley population is expected to reach 500,000 persons within 40 years

Common Problems

Risley said that as Valley municipalities grow together in the coming years, they will have many common problems which will call for cooperation

"When we are going from 150,000 persons to half a million population, we just have plans for orderly development and the Fox Valley Commission is the mechanism which will help us work and grow together" Risley said

Franchett outlined with the use of slides how the commission prepared a comprehensive plan and some aspects of that plan He described the proposed [illegible] expressway and stating that when it is completed [illegible] will alleviate the traffic problems caused by through traffic in the municipalities

Hunger Crisis May Already Be Underway

International Experts See No Chance of Avoiding Disaster

By JAMES M LONG

ROME AP — That world hunger crisis posing the gravest threat mankind has known may already be with us. This is the view of some international experts and others see no sure way of avoiding disaster within the next 30 years as the world's population doubles.

An advisory committee of the U N Food and Agriculture Organization warned this month. This world is on the threshold of the worst famine in its history.

FAO experts who desperately seek a solution have begun only recently to use the words hunger crisis and warn that it is near.

Indeed Prof Gunnar Myrdal Swedish economist told a FAO land reform conference "a future historian may place the beginning of the hunger crisis at a point already past.

Dr B R Sen director of general of FAO says that unless there is a revolution soon in agriculture famine and civil disorders will take a heavy toll of human life in two thirds of the inhabited world.

Heavy Toll

Dr Sen finds that with half the world's population already hungry or undernourished "the balance between hunger and food supplies is so precarious that one bad harvest or natural calamity brings on famine.

He cites the case of India. But even such a large producing country as the Soviet Union became an importer of millions of tons of wheat because of the single bad crop year of 1963. The Soviet Union now bids against Red China on the world grain market to try to rebuild lost reserves.

World Calamity

There is no longer time to rely on 'long-range solutions the experts say. Myrdal told FAO 'time is rapidly running out' and that the next 10 to 15 years might be crucial 'to avert world calamity.'

'I know of no situation where the dictum that in the long run we are all dead' has more of an almost literal validity, he observed.

What has brought on the crisis?

The increase in population has begun to outstrip the increase in food production.

Until a few years ago world food production increased roughly two per cent per year to keep barely abreast of a two per cent population gain.

In the past four years production gain has averaged little more than one per cent and population increase is advancing toward three per cent a year.

Where Leading

Inexorable population statistics show where this is leading.

It took from the dawn of mankind until the year 1830 to build up the world's first billion population. It took 100 years, until 1930 for the second billion. It took 30 years until 1960, for the third billion.

In the next 30 to 35 years by the end of this century population will double to six billion.

The immediate problem requires better distribution of available food and increased yields per acre and per man hour.

But there is no long range answer to rocketing population simply by trying to increase plantings. The world does not have that much usable land.

FAO figures that there are only 12.5 acres of living space available for each man woman and in some cases show the ravages civilization has caused.

The club has had a remarkable record of success. Its pioneer effort in the 1890's resulted in the formation of Yosemite National Park.

In addition to the Grand Canyon and the redwoods, the Sierra Club is trying to preserve the Florida Everglades, the forests of the Oregon Cascades, the wild San Luis Obispo County coastline in California and Storm King Mountain on the Hudson River in New York.

Recreation Role

The club doesn't devote itself exclusively to battling the encroachments of civilization.

Among other things it offers annual wilderness outings, ski tours and mountain climbs for members. During World War II, club members did research for cold weather and mountain combat. Many members served with, and helped train, the 10th Mountain Division and the famed 1st Special Service Force, forerunner of the Army's Special Forces.

Dues in the Sierra Club are $9 a year and there's an initiation fee of $5. A life membership costs $150, a patron membership $1,000.

The money has been tax-deductible. Whether it will be next April is the question.

"But I don't think we'll have to worry," Brower says. "I just got a $5,000 check and a note that said 'Use this to help save Grand Canyon or fight the IRS.'"

Conservationists Fight Washington

Investigation by Internal Revenue Of Sierra Club Called 'Scare' Effort

By WILLIAM C WERTZ

SAN FRANCISCO AP — That indefatigable champion of conservation the Sierra Club has suddenly discovered that the Internal Revenue Service is curious about how it spends its money.

The club suspects that the IRS interest may not be entirely divorced from the fact that it is embroiled again in a fight with the federal government.

In fact the executive director of the Sierra Club David Brower charges that the tax agency is trying to scare us off with an investigation.

The IRS is trying to determine if a substantial part of club funds are used in an attempt to influence legislation. If so says the IRS contributors no longer will be permitted to deduct club dues and fees from their income taxes.

'Low Punch'

"It's a gut blow a low punch" said Brower in an interview. "If they get us if we lose our tax-exempt status we'll sue. It would be a blow to conservationist groups all over the country and conservation can't afford to be timid at a time like this.

The Sierra Club never has been timid.

In the 74 years since it was founded by California nature lover John Muir the club has grown into the nation's most influential conservationist organization. Today it boasts 20 chapters and more than 40,000 members across the country, all dedicated to the preservation of what's left of the American wilderness.

Right now the club is waging two major battles. It is trying to block construction of two dams within the Grand Canyon and it is advocating creation of a 90,000 acre Redwood National Park in Northern California.

The campaign against the Grand Canyon dams triggered the IRS investigation.

It layered warning from the IRS less than 24 hours after it placed advertisements in the Washington Post and the New York Times urging readers to oppose legislation that would authorize construction of the dams.

"How can you fight a warning that vague" Brower asks. "How much is 'substantial'? What constitutes 'influencing' legislation?"

The club argues that the dams would not be used to store water for the thirsty cities of the Southwest. Instead it contends, they would be used as 'cash registers' to raise money for other water development projects through sale of the electricity they would generate.

This money could be raised more efficiently by building steam generating plants, powered by the Southwest's abundant coal reserves or by nuclear power, the club argues.

Compromise Offered

Secretary of the Interior Stewart L Udall has offered to compromise by eliminating one dam from the project but the Sierra Club won't go along.

"We want to preserve the free-flowing river throughout the entire canyon" Brower says. "It won't be a victory until then."

In Washington, an IRS spokesman said the audit — he preferred that term to investigation — is only designed to determine whether the club is spending substantial amounts to influence legislation. The tax-exempt category into which the club falls, he said, bars such spending.

He referred to a recent statement by IRS Commissioner Sheldon S Cohen who said the merits of the Colorado River legislation have no bearing on application of tax law.

Cohen said the law provides that an organization eligible to receive contributions which the donor can deduct for income tax purposes cannot devote 'a substantial part' of its activities to influencing legislation.

By placing advertisements in the New York and Washington papers, Cohen said, the club initiated a nationwide campaign to influence legislation which could reasonably be expected to be vigorous and continuing. On the basis of these facts, some action on the part of IRS was clearly indicated."

Cohen said anyone who responded to the club's appeal for funds obviously would be aware of its campaign and would be denied a tax deduction if the club was subsequently disqualified from receiving this privilege.

Under the circumstances, the IRS felt it was under a duty to warn the club and possible contributors of the consequences if the club were subsequently determined to be disqualified to receive tax deductible contributions," Cohen said.

He added "This was done without pressure or influence exerted by anyone since IRS has the responsibility of administering the tax laws as enacted by Congress.

In fighting for a 90,000-acre national redwood park in Humboldt County, Calif., the Sierra Club is opposing not only the timber industry, which the club says is cutting redwoods as fast as it can, but the Johnson administration as well.

The administration has proposed a 43,000-acre park in Del Norte County.

Rep Jeffery Cohelan, D-Calif., coauthor of the redwood park bill which the Sierra Club supports argues that the Del Norte acreage 'has already been so thoroughly logged it is a second rate site.'

Dr Edgar Wayburn, vice president of the Sierra Club, agrees.

Redwood Logging

"The administration's Del Norte County park proposal is more than 70 per cent cutover redwood forest," he says. "The rest is being logged steadily on a year round basis."

To support its varied causes the Sierra Club has published a series of award-winning books. With vivid color photographs and moving essays, the books picture the beauty of many of America's wilderness areas,

Order to Dissolve Bear Creek District Nullified by Voters

Deferendum Results in 704-397 Defeat for School Consolidation

An order which would have dissolved the Bear Creek School District and attached it to the Clintonville district was nullified in a referendum vote Tuesday by an overwhelming majority of electors of the districts involved.

The total vote against approving the order, issued May 23 by the Cooperative Educational Services Agency (CESA) No. 8, was 704, with 397 favoring the plan to terminate the tiny Bear Creek district.

For the referendum, the voters were divided into two groups — towns and incorporated communities — and each group would have had to affirm the CESA order to carry it through. However, both voter blocs turned out in surprisingly strong opposition with the incorporated communities voting 420 against and 213 for the order. The towns voted 284 against and 184 in favor of the merger.

Ordered After Petition

The referendum was ordered after a petition opposing the CESA plan was filed with the Waupaca County clerk.

A breakdown of the vote in the incorporated communities (with the vote opposing the order listed first) shows Clintonville, 240-185; Embarrass, 30-12, and Bear Creek, 150-16.

The town vote (Same order) was:

Deer Creek, 64-90; Maple Creek, 0-2; Bear Creek, 66-53; Lebanon, 0-1; Larrabee, 79-16; Matteson, 35-14; Union, 13-4; Maine, 19-4; Belle Plaine, 3-2; Navarino, 1-0, and Pella, 4-0.

Fierce controversy swirled around the issue. A small group of Bear Creek district electors were in favor of having their school closed but the majority were opposed to the idea.

Appealed to State

If the referendum vote had failed to set aside the CESA order, the Bear Creek district would have carried its case to the State Appeal Board on School Reorganization. It already had filed an appeal.

While the vote was a victory for the Bear Creek bloc, CESA reaction indicated disapproval.

"I'm sorry to hear the news because it's the childrens' future that is at stake and the children will be the ones who will be deprived of their rightful education," Mrs. Kenneth Watts, chairman of the CESA reorganization committee, said.

Race Backs Seaway Bill

Congressman Joins Move to Prevent Toll Rate Hike

Special to the Post-Crescent

WASHINGTON — Sixth District Rep. John A. Race (D-Fond du Lac) was among 12 congressmen who today introduced identical bills to prevent a 10 per cent increase in toll rates on the St. Lawrence Seaway.

The bill which Race introduced was authored by Milwaukee Rep. Henry Reuss and co-sponsored by the four other state Democratic representatives.

Wisconsin congressmen also were scheduled to meet late today with Gov. Warren P. Knowles to discuss Seaway issues.

The St. Lawrence Seaway Corp. has proposed the increase. Reuss' measure would direct the corporation and the Treasury Department to convert the present revenue bond obligations of the Seaway to capital stock in an amount equal to the revenue bonds plus accrued interest.

Under the proposal, Seaway tolls would be fixed to cover all operating costs, maintenance, interest on the obligation of the Seaway Corp. and payment of a proposed 3.45 per cent dividend on capital stock.

a possible gathering place. Greisch said he would like to see the program held in August.

Although Board Chairman Sylvester Esler was at first skeptical of the plan, he later said he would be willing to help it get underway. He suggested the county fairgrounds might be available.

Marvin Babbitt of Seymour said he would "go along with it" if each member would pay his own way at such an event. Other supervisors agreed with Babbitt.

Joseph DeBruin, rural Kaukauna supervisor, suggested Griesch and Kloes poll members of other county boards in the area then report back.

Man Carries Girl's Toe To Hospital

An unidentified motorist attempted unsuccessfully to assist a three-year-old Appleton girl whose toe was severed in a bicycle accident about 9 p.m. Sunday.

Mary Godin, 1310 W. Second St., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Godin, was injured while riding on the rear fender of a bicycle operated by her mother. During the course of the ride, the little girl's foot became caught in the bicycle's wheel and the big toe of her right foot was cut off.

Mrs. Godin rushed Mary to St. Elizabeth Hospital in the family car for treatment.

High Speed Run

Upon inquiry, police said the man told them he had the little girl's toe with him and had hurried to the hospital hoping that use of the toe could be saved through surgery.

Mrs. Godin said Tuesday that the man's effort, though appreciated, was fruitless and the toe could not be saved. She also said Mary was doing well at the hospital.

Kaukauna Council Approves Highway Assessment Rate

Second Ward Aldermen Object To Charges for State 96 Work

KAUKAUNA — Assessment rates for street improvements in the Second Ward came under fire at the common council meeting Tuesday as aldermen approved the proposals.

Green Bay and Plank roads on the northeast side of the city are being improved according to state specifications, since the stretch also serves as State 96.

The state is paying part of the construction costs.

Alds. David Specht (2nd), Lloyd Koehn (2nd) and William Rogers (5th) said because of the higher quality of the road, the assessment rate is higher.

Residents have said they feel aldermen should consider the higher quality of street compared with other residential roadways when setting the rate.

Paying Lower Price

Aldermen indicated residents were getting driveway aprons and a better street than other residents, while still paying a lower price.

The council finally approved rates of $5.16 per lineal foot for residential property and $7.74 per foot in commercial areas, with the three aldermen voting "no."

Two residents on Plank Road asked to have their property rezoned from commercial to residential in an attempt to cut the assessment cost. Their request was referred to the planning commission.

A request for special consideration from one citizen who lives on a triangular lot was referred to the board of public works. This resident said he would be assessed more than $2,200 for the improvement.

A request from a resident of Whitney Street to have a lot rezoned from single to multiple family residence also was referred to the planning commission, as was a request from Frank Thelen to have part of his farm in the Town of Buchanan annexed.

Offers Two Lots

An offer from Jerome Koch to sell two lots on second Street to the city for off-street parking was referred to the finance and planning committees. Koch asked $7,500 down on the two lots and a remaining $12,000 in three installments, with 4 per cent interest.

A petition signed by 106 persons objecting to placing fill and moving play equipment in White City Park was presented. The petition said play equipment was ideally suited and fill would spoil the winter recreation for children.

Aldermen filed the request, indicating work was already underway and improvements would be completed this year.

Plans for improvements at the sewage disposal plant have been approved by the state board of health, but still must be approved by other state agencies involved, aldermen were told.

Proposed revisions suggested by the state were forwarded to Donahue Engineering, Sheboygan, consulting engineers for the project.

Aldermen voted to grant a base pay increase of $262.65 per year, to firemen and policemen, retroactive to March 1. Recommendation for the increase had been made at that time by the finance committee, but was never carried out.

Seventeen city truck drivers were granted pay increases of 11 cents per hour, retroactive to July 1, raising them to the same pay as heavy equipment operators.

City Attorney Donald Green was instructed to determine whether the city could legally hire 17-year-olds to work with the city crew during the summer. Approval was given to raising the hourly pay of part-time employees from $1.50 to $1.95 per hour.

Aldermen okayed breaking up the pavement and oiling and rolling the alleyway on Hendricks Avenue between Ninth and Tenth Streets to prevent erosion.

The city engineer was instructed to stockpile 300 yards of stone chips, mixed with oil, for use in street patch work.

Car Bottoms Scraping

Residents of Arthur Street objected to elevation of their driveways from the new pavement to the public walk because bottoms of cars are being scraped when backing onto the new pavement. The board of public works and engineer will check the problem.

The city engineer was instructed to prepare plans and specifications for the surfacing of the parking area near the swimming pool and the public parking lot on E. Wisconsin Avenue.

The legislative committee will prepare ordinances calling for no parking on the southside of Hillcrest Drive, no parking for Desnoyer Street and a four-way stop sign at Eighth Street and Main Avenue as recommended by the chief of police.

Decision Expected in Town Suit

The Contentions

It has been the contention of the plaintiffs that the canning company proceeded to construct the 12-building camp without a building permit, which counsel said is required in town and county zoning ordinances. The plaintiffs also have said that Miss Pfeffer, as county clerk, is the county building inspector and that she appointed Robert VanHandel as the Grand Chute deputy building inspector in 1963, according to a letter from the clerk to Van Handel.

The town and county also have attempted to show through testimony that the canners did not present sufficient detailed plans to warrant issuance of a permit.

Attorney John E. Eder has represented the defendant, Stokely-Van Camp throughout injunction hearing. The defendants maintained that Miss Pfeffer was never appointed building inspector by the county board and, therefore, that her appointment of Van Handel as deputy building inspector is invalid. Additionally, plans, which have been accepted as evidence, are said to be adequate by the defendant and a permit should have been given them. Sakamoto testified Tuesday that he had attempted to make application for the permit through Van Handel.

Another point of contention has been whether the company has suffered losses during the current growing season as a result of a labor shortage which the defendant's say could have been averted through the use of migrant laborers.

There remains one more matter to appear in court. Charges against building contractor Don Calmes and the canners are to be tried at a date which has not been announced. The town and county are charging that work on the camp was begun without permits.

Consulting Firm Interested In Oneida Street Bridge Study

A Milwaukee consulting firm has expressed an interest in conducting the engineering study for the proposed Oneida Street bridge.

In a letter to Mayor George Buckley, Joseph H. Looper of Howard, Needles, Tammen and Bergendoff, Consulting Engineers, said representatives of the firm would like to discuss the bridge project with the mayor and other city officials.

"It has come to our attention that Appleton may soon undertake engineering studies of a new Fox River bridge in the vicinity of Oneida Street. In the event you may desire to retain a consultant for these studies, we wish to acquaint you with our firm and our interest in this project," Looper said.

The city has been advertising for cost estimates of a preliminary engineering study.

The Milwaukee firm several years ago conducted an engineering study and prepared a development plan for the Winnebago County airport.

To Eliminate Disturbances

Home Business Law Passed by Council

MENASHA The common council adopted a new ordinance designed in part to eliminate disturbances from business operations in residential neighborhoods but not before earning it won't cover all instances.

Ald William Erickson rose in support of the measure at Tuesday night's council meeting. He was stopped in mid speech by the howl of the fire department sirens splitting the air from the station house downstairs from the council chambers.

The commotion of the fire equipment roaring from the station ended and Erickson smoothly picked up where he had left off remarking This ordinance doesn't cover that particular situation.

The measure passed unanimously.

The fire run turned out to be for a false alarm.

Other Action

In other action the mayor's appointment of Hugo Pawer as chairman of the board of appeals to succeed Ray D Montonati who recently resigned was approved.

A letter from Mowry Smith Jr. Menasha Corp vice president and secretary, was read commending police department efforts to keep traffic flowing smoothly at Washington and River streets during the current bridge and street repair project.

A claim from MaeBelle Col... [illegible] First St for care of an arm fracture suffered in a fall on a city street was referred to the attorney and insurance board.

The streets and sanitation committee was formally empowered to grant or refuse requests for new street lighting projects or equipment. A petition with 13 signatures reportedly representing 10 residences on Kinzie Court, was referred to the committee. The petitioners are asking for a light on the court. Ald Donald Kuehl told the council there have been some objections since the city erected a wooden rather than steel pole for the light.

Also referred to the committee was a request by Kuehl that all street lights across the Washington Street bridge and from there to Main Street as far as the Racine Street bridge be left burning all night. At present, he said, half are turned out at midnight. The public works director has recommended the change for safety reasons.

School Board Sets Salaries At Hortonville

Janitorial Rates Approved Monday; Personnel Hired

HORTONVILLE Personnel matters including wage scales and hiring occupied the attention of the board of education of the Hortonville Community Schools Monday.

Board members also discussed next year's budget and left the equalized valuation rate at 18 mills.

Joseph Keller was present at the meeting to discuss janitorial problems. A day shift and a night shift from 3 to 11 were approved, and a salary schedule for janitors was passed.

$350 Per Month

Employes with one to three years experience will receive $350 per month for day work and $375 for evening work. The salary for four to six years of experience will be $395 for days and $420 for evenings.

Those with seven to nine years will receive $415 and $440. Men with over 10 years experience will get $430 and $455 per month.

Mrs George Drews again has been hired as head cook, with Mrs Robert Warning and Mrs Evalyn Meidl as assistants. Two more cooks will be hired before the start of school.

Secretaries rehired

Members voted to rehire Mrs Alice Schwebs and Mrs Joan Duncan as secretaries for the coming year.

Attorney Kelland Lathrop asked for the authority to hire a surveyor to stake out some of the lots of the rural schools. His request was granted.

The construction certificate for Stephenson Electric for $25,200 was studied and the board agreed to pay the amount.

School Board, Union Near Agreement

MENASHA — Negotiating committees for Local 1035, AFL-CIO, and the board of education met Tuesday night to draw up the 1967 working agreement and came close to making a new record by almost finalizing the contract.

Wage adjustment was the single large item where agreement could not be reached. The union proposal, made by James W. Miller, AFL-CIO District 4 representative was based on a reclassification of janitors and firemen with categorical hourly rate adjustments ranging from 6 to 16 per cent plus a three per cent across the board increase for all 23 employes covered by the contract.

The board of education after caucusing its committee, agreed to the wage adjustment and a three per cent across-the-board raise if the "firing time" — time spent on weekends checking heat — for janitors was eliminated completely from the contract.

Mayor Holmes Will Fly to Fort Polk

MENASHA — Mayor Kenneth Holmes leaves Thursday morning for a three-day visit to Ft Polk, La, to observe local Army Reservists engaged in training exercises there.

The mayor was granted permission for the trip by the common council Tuesday night after he explained the costs will be paid by the federal government. The officials will be guests of the Army.

Holmes made joking reference to the recent refusal of the Appleton council to let Mayor George Buckley make the same trip because Buckley has refused to allow city officials to make trips out of the state to attend functions relating to their jobs.

Holmes said, "I have never refused permission for our officials to go outside the state, so I hope you won't give me the Buckley treatment."

Councilmen laughed and Ald Ernest Koerner, finance chairman, rose to make what he termed the easiest motion I have ever made, since it won't be at any expense to the city."

The Army will fly local officials from the Winnebago County Airport at Oshkosh at 9 a m. They are due to return from Ft Polk about 6 30 p m Saturday.

Mayor Delays Start Of Process; MRA Boundaries Sought

MENASHA — Without discussion, the common council approved a $5,000 appropriation Tuesday night to be turned over to the Menasha Redevelopment Authority (MRA) to help finance an early start on the city's comprehensive plan.

After the decision had been made on unanimous roll call votes by the 10 aldermen present, officials became entangled in a lengthy debate on the advisability of establishing the boundaries within which the MRA will have authority.

Ald Robert Winarski, whose current council term began in April, after the MRA had been established, asked Mayor Kenneth Holmes if any timetable had been set for establishing the boundaries.

A Delay

Holmes turned the question over to Robert Poss, public works director. Then, after lengthy discussion on the council floor, the mayor announced he intends to delay before seeking council authority to sign papers hiring Victor Gruen Associates, the planning firm designated to conduct the comprehensive study.

The mayor told the council, "I don't intend to ask you for this authority tonight." He added he believes the city is "a long ways off before the federal government grants this money", referring to the $22,000 in aid for which the MRA has applied to conduct the bulk of the planning study.

Elaborating this morning, the mayor said he was uncertain of the terms and procedures under which the planner would be hired. He said he intended to take the questions to the MRA at its regular meeting this noon. He said he was particularly uncertain whether signing the papers would commit the city to the entire planning program, or only for the $8,000 preliminary studies which the MRA hopes to begin while waiting for approval of its federal aid application.

So the delay in hiring the planner will be at least another two weeks, until the next council meeting Aug 2.

Menasha Starts a Navy By Giving Duck a Home

MENASHA — The city may soon have a navy, and a "Duck" will have a home.

A trio of motions had clear sailing through the common council Tuesday night, accepting the offer of a U S Navy DUKW (Duck) amphibian craft for police and rescue use from Dr. George R Meyer, Oshkosh Naval Reserve officer.

The city was offered the Duck after Patrolman Tony Ashenbrenner inquired about it when he read that the Oshkosh Police and Winnebago County Sheriff's Department had declined to accept it. Both agencies have large patrol boats. Menasha has a 14-foot police runabout.

City Atty. Richard Steffens was being referred to as "Commodore" after the meeting, a reference to his request to have the matter placed on the agenda under the heading "Menasha Navy." Steffens managed to work a reference to "Admiral — I mean Mayor Holmes" into his comments.

Ashenbrenner told the council during a 5-minute recess that he had been assured the big machine could dry-dock in the National Guard Armory garage at Jefferson Park.

Police Chief Lester Clark spoke glowingly of the Duck's features. Like a retired sea captain recalling his ship, he told of using such conveyances in law inforcement at Wisconsin Dells.

He said the vehicle, which can go 10 m p.h. in water and 50 m.p.h. on land, is equipped with a winch and can pull itself free in the unlikely event it gets stuck. Someone suggested the winch might be handy if the city decides to move the old Menasha Woodenware Co. logs, but that long-debated issue was drowned out.

The council gave its approval by accepting the offer, authorizing a $50 payment to Dr. Meyer for expenses and approving insurance for the craft.

The matter of insurance almost sank the city's Navy before it was launched. Someone wondered whether a special policy would be necessary, but Clark and Steffens assured the questioner the DUKW would come under the regular fleet insurance policy.

Freeman to Visit Wisconsin, Four Other Farm States

WASHINGTON (AP)—Wisconsin is one of five Midwestern states which Secretary of Agriculture Orville L Freeman says he will visit to discuss farm issues and programs with farmers.

Freeman, who made a similar trip to Iowa in June, said Tuesday he will reach Janesville, Wis., Friday evening.

Also on his agenda are visits in Indiana, North Dakota, Nebraska and Iowa Friday, Saturday and Sunday. The tour is being made at a time when Johnson administration farm policies have come under fire from farm leaders.

Freeman said he plans meetings with farm representatives to answer questions.

Rep. Laird Critical of Grant-in-Aid Programs

Wisconsin ranks 49th among the 50 states in per capita federal aid dollars, according to Seventh District Rep. Melvin R Laird, R-Marshfield.

The congressman, in a newsletter today, also noted that Wisconsin was one of 18 states last year that paid more in federal taxes than it received in federal grants.

In Wisconsin "it was estimated that for every dollar in federal grants we received last year," we paid $1 46 in federal taxes," Laird points out.

Laird said his figures came from a recent report of the federal census bureau and Tax Foundation Incorporated.

Critical of Ranking

Laird was critical of Wisconsin's ranking second to last in federal aid funds. "It is the major reason for my position that categorical federal grant in aid programs are not the best or most efficient way to accomplish the goals we all favor," he said.

Laird went on. "Today there are over 200 categorical federal grant in-aid programs whereby, for example the federal government grants aid to a state or local institution for certain kinds of educational activity or medical assistance."

He explained that his argument is not against the "very worthwhile and reasonable goals" of the programs, but rather "against the waste and inefficiency that accompanies them when they are administered by federal bureaus in Washington instead of by local and state officials who know so much better the problems that are involved."

Laird cited several instances where he has worked to obtain for his home area some of the funds contained in the categorical aid programs.

However, he said it still is his belief that the better way is to replace these categorical grants with a broader bloc grant whereby the federal government would return to the states a flat percentage of income taxes collected within those states.

Dealers Don't Like Britain's Sterling Austerity Program

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market weakened slightly following news today of Britain's new austerity measures aimed at supporting the pound sterling. Trading was moderate early this afternoon.

British Prime Minister Harold Wilson's announcement of the new program came as the stock market had apparently recovered from its latest case of jitters over Viet Nam. The market was mixed and quiet.

The news from London brought on some additional selling but no great change in the market atmosphere.

Drugs erased most of their small early gains. Losses increased slightly among airlines, motors and rails which had been losers before the news came.

AP Off

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off 1 3 at 316 7 with industrials off 1 6, rails off .9 and utilities off .6. The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 2.12 at 881 95.

Boeing sank 2¼ to 68 on a huge block of 113,600 shares. General Dynamics lost 1. Douglas Aircraft and United Aircraft were fractional losers.

Xerox fell more than 8 points, showing continued weakness following its plunge of 10⅜ points Tuesday.

Homestake the gold - mining issue, lost more than a point. Johns-Manville shrugged off the news from Britain and held a gain exceeding a point. The company reported a sharp gain in earnings.

Losses of about a point were taken by IBM, Polaroid, Eastern Air Lines and Pennsylvania Railroad.

High Standards for State Hiring Called Possibly Discriminatory

MADISON (AP) — State government's standards for hiring persons are so high that they may be discriminating against minority groups and the poor, a professor said Tuesday.

Law Prof. G. W. Foster of the University of Wisconsin said the state should scrutinize its hiring standards to learn whether they are excluding a "significant group of Wisconsin citizens—certainly minority groups—from employment."

Foster told the study committee on minority group services that there was little reason to insist that a secretarial trainee be an outstanding speller when one did not have to be able to spell to become a university professor.

CCHS Cites Dorms as Key To Enrollment

Committee to Seek Additional Data on University Housing

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Recognizing that dormitory programs are keys to the control of enrollment at individual institutions, the Coordinating Committee for Higher Education (CCHE) intends to apply closer supervision to the huge residential building program on the campuses of the state's institutions of higher learning.

The CCHE is the highest policy making authority in the management of tax-supported university programs in the state.

It has directed the administrators of the numerous schools to supply more explicit information to guide in the control of dormitory construction which it said should be part of integrated campus planning.

The information sought will cover:

The criteria used to determine dormitory needs.

The composition of the student body to be served.

Types of facilities.

A&P

what is Coffee Mill Flavor?

It's fresh-ground flavor you can't get in a can.
Fresh-ground flavor you do get in A&P's whole-bean Eight O'Clock, Red Circle and Bokar Coffees.

You see, once the coffee bean is ground,
the flavor begins to fade...
even when it's vacuum-packed.

That's why, when we at A&P buy the finest coffees we can find,
we bring them to you still in the bean.
And we custom-grind them exactly right for your coffeemaker... right in your A&P.

Takes a little extra work, but we're happy to do it.
That way we can be sure you'll enjoy the full, fresh taste of A&P's Coffee Mill Flavor.

Are A&P Coffees a good reason for shopping A&P?
They're one of many.

Propose $507,226 School Budget for Little Wolf District

Rate Will Drop 47 Cents if Spending Plan Is Not Changed

MANAWA — A $507,226 budget to operate Little Wolf District's schools for 1966-67 has been proposed by the board of education and will be presented to the district's electors at the annual meeting at 8 p.m. Monday at the high school fieldhouse.

The proposal represents a drop of $84,764 from the current year's $592,091 budget. A $62,000 transfer on bonds and added maintenance expenses were the main reasons the 1965-66 spending was higher.

The portion of the proposed budget to be raised by local taxes is $224,156. To produce this levy, a rate of $15.37 per $1,000 of equalized valuation has been proposed. This rate includes $2 per $1,000 for the building fund which would bring in $33,536.

The proposed tax rate represents a decrease of 47 cents when compared with the current rate of $15.84, produced this year's levy of $367,666. The current rate included $1 per $1,000 for the building fund.

Receipts from sources other than direct taxes are estimated at $283,070 for 1966-67. This year outside revenues of $237,562 made up the difference between the levy and the budget.

Major expenditure of the proposed budget is $273,689 for teacher salaries. This is $32,828 more than this year's $240,861. Other estimated expenses are general control, $11,600, down from $14,777 for 1965-66; other instruction expenses, $30,925, down from $49,283; maintenance, $18,290, down from $21,947.

Operational Costs Up

Operating expenses are up $1,943 from $34,922 to $36,875 for 1966-67. Auxiliary service shows little change with $35,750 proposed as compared with $35,680 this year. Other disbursements for operation are down $3,215 from $15,215 to $12,000; transportation is $39,835, down from $41,718; community service $200, down from $1,100; capital outlay is decreased $24,045, from $36,120 last year to $12,075; debt service on principal is down from $27,000 to $26,000 and on interest, from $11,430 to $9,062.

The tax base a year ago was $16,453,500 and this year's is $16,768,400.

Largest source of revenue, other than local taxes, is expected in state aids, estimated at $215,852. This represents $27,930 more than this year's $187,922.

Anticipated Revenues

Other anticipated revenues are federal vocational aid, $2,265, down $14; transportation aid, $17,268, up $2,328; school lunch $30,000, down $1,387; driver education, $1,000, up $50; National Defense Education Association aid under titles III and V, $2,000, down $2,235; rentals, $800, down $658; county elementary teachers aid remains the same at $8,750; rental, $3,200, down $52. An estimated $2,000 is expected under the poverty program.

Charge Battery At Waupaca

New London Man Allegedly Struck Banker With Chair

WAUPACA—Harold K. Johnson, 42, route 1, New London, charged with aggravated battery in the alleged striking of a Manawa banker with a chair was arraigned in Municipal Justice Court Monday and bound over to County Court for a preliminary examination Tuesday.

Johnson allegedly struck Mere Hales, executive vice president of the Manawa Farmers State Bank, with an office chair after the two became involved in an argument in Hales' office, shortly before noon Monday. Hales is Johnson's court-appointed guardian.

Johnson was taken into custody by sheriff department officials and Manawa city police in the Town of Lebanon where he was staying.

Hales suffered a cut and bruised hand which he used to ward off the blows struck by Johnson.

Municipal Justice George Whalen set bond at $2,000 which Johnson was unable to post. He was returned to the county jail.

Budget Up $20,536 For Brillion Schools

Electors to Vote on $423,223 Figure; $14.95 Tax Rate Asked

BRILLION — A tax rate of $14.95 per $1,000 of equalized valuation, down from $15 last year, will finance the proposed $423,223 school budget if the board of education's budget recommendations are approved at the annual meeting next Monday.

District residents discussed the proposed budget, up approximately $20,000 from 1965-66, at a public hearing Monday night.

The current rate, applied against a district equalized valuation of $21,730,500 produced a levy of $325,957. The new $14.95 rate for the ensuing year will produce $346,493 in local taxes when applied against the new $23,176,800 equalized valuation for an increase of $20,536.

Possible Addition

The budget may get an additional $2 per $1,000 of equalized valuation tagged to it for a reserve building fund if electors again approve this "sinking fund". The current year's fund totals $43,897.

The proposal, approved last year to cut down on borrowing when future school construction is started, would require a smaller bond issue to finance the proposed building program. The $2 rate, when applied against the new equalized valuation, would bring in $46,353 this year. The question will be reviewed at the annual meeting Monday.

An anticipated $24,485 increase in instructional cost from $230,658 to $251,143 is due largely to an increase in teachers' salaries, the addition of one faculty member and a $4,000 appropriation for services of a speech therapist from the Co-operative Education Service Agency.

This year the school has incorporated a new bookkeeping system as advised by the state. The system gives residents a more thorough breakdown of categories and pinpoints areas where state and federal aids are available. Some expenditures are recategorized.

Because of this reshuffling and to give a truer budget picture, actual 1965-66 spending is shown in parenthesis.

Anticipated Expenditures

Other proposed anticipated expenditures include general control, $25,510, down from $30,400 last year; pupil transportation services, $31,695, down from $32,620 and operation, $29,933 up $1,920 from the current $28,013.

Maintenance expenditures are anticipated at $13,893, down $5,342 from $19,235 this year.

New to the system is the fixed charges category, $8,359. Some of these items were previously listed under general control. Clearing account transfers total $2,933.

Auxiliary, now transferred to a clearing account, was $24,629 last year. This item designates the school lunch program which was self-supporting this past year. When final aid checks are received, the program will have a $500 surplus amount.

Debt Service

Capital outlay is $20,232, up $2,643 from $17,589 and community services is $600, up from $120 appropriated last year.

Principal source of outside revenue is expected to be state aids, anticipated at $42,515. This is $2,327 more than the $40,188 received for the current year.

Other anticipated revenues compared to actual 1965-66 receipts are utility tax, $18,000, up $847; other local receipts $6,775, down $91; county aid remains the same at $4,550; federal aid, $3,800, down $335; interests on investments, $2,480 up $392 and receipts from other schools for transportation costs is anticipated to be $150, as compared to none this year.

Clintonville Fire Destroys Hay, Buildings

CLINTONVILLE — The volunteer rural fire department fought a blaze Tuesday night which destroyed 1,000 bales of hay and several small buildings on the Herman Wedde farm, route 3, just east of here on State 156.

The fire, of undetermined origin, broke out about 8:20 p.m. The hay, which was outside, caught fire first, and the blaze then spread to the nearby buildings. Pigs which were kept in one of the structures were safely removed.

No estimate of the damage has been given.

Stokely-Van Camp, Plaintiffs Rest Cases in Circuit Court

Hearings on an injunction sought by the Town of Grand Chute and Outagamie County against Stokely-Van Camp Inc. ended Tuesday afternoon.

County Clerk Mollie Pfeffer, appearing on the witness stand for the second time during the proceedings which began July 6, was the final witness to testify before acting Circuit Court Judge Urban P. Van Susteren.

Judge Van Susteren expressed a desire to meet with the counsel for both plaintiff and defense before handing down a decision.

The town and county are asking that Stokely-Van Camp Inc. be ordered to stop construction of a migrant labor camp on N. Casaloma Drive.

Two Decisions

Also awaiting the judge's decision are two matters which appeared after the hearing proceedings were started. A writ of mandamus was filed on behalf of the cannery asking the court order authorization of permits for construction of the camp.

The town, in turn, requested that the court quash the mandamus proceedings.

Three employes of the canning firm testified Tuesday. They were Henry Weiland, field supervisor, V. E. Quakenbush, manager, and Jon L. Sakamoto, assistant to the manager.

Grand Chute and Outagamie County, plaintiffs in the injunction proceedings, have been represented by attorney Don Hering and corporation counsel A. W. Donath during the five-session hearing.

The Contentions

It has been the contention of the plaintiffs that the canning company proceeded to construct the 12-building camp without a building permit, which county said is required in town and county zoning ordinances. The plaintiffs also have said that Miss Pfeffer as county clerk is the county building inspector and that she appointed Roger VanHandel as the Grand Chute deputy building inspector in 1963, according to a letter from the clerk to Van Handel.

The town and county also have attempted to show through testimony that the cannery did not present sufficiently detailed plans to warrant issuance of a permit.

Appointment Invalid

Attorney John E. Esler has represented the defendant, Stokely-Van Camp throughout injunction hearing. The defendants maintained that Miss Pfeffer was never appointed building inspector by the county board and, therefore, that her appointment of Van Handel as deputy building inspector is invalid. Additionally, plans which have been accepted as evidence, are said to be adequate by the defendant and a permit should have been given them. Sakamoto testified Tuesday that he had attempted to make application for the permit through Van Handel.

Another point of contention has been whether the company has suffered losses during the current growing season as a result of a labor shortage which, the defendant's say could have been averted through the use of migrant laborers.

There remains one more matter to appear in court. Charges against building contractor Don Calmes and the cannery are to be tried at a date which has not been announced. The town and county are charging that work on the camp was begun without permits.

The cases were transferred to Judge Van Susteren Monday after the defendants filed an affidavit of prejudice against Branch 2 judge, Gustave J. Keller.

Waupaca Beltline May Open Today

Construction On U. S. 10 Nears End

WAUPACA — Use of the new U.S. 10 beltline around Waupaca will begin either late today or Thursday morning, depending on completion of shouldering work.

State Project Engineer Rhode Sorenson told The Post-Crescent late Tuesday that construction should be finished sometime today, but he was unsure of the exact time.

When the bypass is opened the main entrance to the city will be the center, Waupaca County Trunk K interchange. Both the east and west interchanges are still incomplete and will not be ready for traffic until this fall. However, temporary roadways will be used at both ends of the bypass to permit traffic into the city.

Rebuild Streets

As soon as the bypass is opened, work will start on rebuilding W. Fulton and Churchill streets, both part of the $1,146,313 construction project.

W. Fulton Street will be widened and rebuilt from the present curbing, west of the bypass interchange. In addition to rebuilding the street, storm sewer also will be installed on the north side of the street from a short distance west of the Hillcrest Drive intersection to Morton Street.

Work on installing the sewers on Fulton Street will start within a few days after the bypass has been opened, Sorenson said.

After the storm sewer is installed the street will be widened to 44 feet, curb and gutter installed and the street blacktopped.

To be Widened

Churchill Street will be widened and rebuilt from Royalton Street south to where it joins the U.S. 10 entrance, a short distance south of Evans Street.

Sewer and water mains will be installed on some sections of the street and the causeway and bridge crossing the Cary Mill pond will also be widened.

In addition to rebuilding the

Aug. 16 Agreement Deadline

Towns Asked to Share Waupaca Dump Costs

WAUPACA — Towns with residents using the Waupaca city dump have until Aug. 16 to arrive at an agreement with the city for sharing the cost of the dump operation or the facility will be closed to persons from those towns.

This was the decision reached Tuesday by the city council.

A delegation of board members from the Town of Waupaca appeared at Tuesday's council meeting and were told that the cost of operating the dump was $15,599 per year and on a population basis, the Town of Waupaca's share would be $2,450. The cost estimate and town fee was prepared by Iver Oerter, city engineer.

When town officials appeared to disapprove of the proposal, Mayor Lloyd Matheson suggested that they think it over and if they still feel the city proposal is unfair, they should present one of their own before Aug. 16.

Costs Would Go Down

Oerter said if more towns participated in a cost-sharing plan, costs would go down.

During a four-day survey conducted at the city dump by police, it was learned that of 322 persons who used the dump, 31 were from outside the city.

Eleven of the non-residents were from the Town of Waupaca, nine from Lind, three from Farmington, five from Dayton and two from Waushara County.

Police Chief Fred Rasmussen said several cars came up to the dump entrance and then turned around when they saw police checking cars.

Alfred Jarnick, board of public works chairman, said the board favors closing of the dump on Sunday. At the present time the dump is open Sunday morning and it is necessary to hire a man, because if the dump is left unattended there is a littering problem.

Discuss Petition

The council also discussed a petition which is now being circulated throughout the city asking that there be a regular garbage pickup.

In other action the council took steps to prevent any more house trailers from locating in the city, outside mobile home parks, by rescinding a hardship clause in the trailer ordinance.

The clause, adopted Aug. 6, 1963, allowed a person to locate a mobile home within the city if the person could prove it would be a hardship on them if denied.

Trailers now located within the city will be permitted to remain but newcomers will have to be parked in a mobile home court.

Man Carries Girl's Toe To Hospital

An unidentified motorist attempted unsuccessfully to assist a three-year-old Appleton girl whose toe was severed in a bicycle accident about 9 p.m. Sunday.

Mary Godin, 1210 W. Second St., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Godin, was injured while riding on the rear fender of a bicycle operated by her mother. During the course of the ride, the little girl's foot became caught in the bicycle's wheel and the big toe of her right foot was cut off.

Mrs. Godin rushed Mary to St. Elizabeth Hospital in the family car for treatment.

High Speed Run

At 9:15 Appleton police patrolling in the vicinity of the hospital noticed a driver entering the hospital grounds at a high speed.

Upon inquiry, police said the man told them he had the little girl's toe with him and had hurried to the hospital hoping that use of the toe could be saved through surgery.

Mrs. Godin said Tuesday that the man's effort, though appreciated, was fruitless and the toe could not be saved. She also said Mary was doing well at the hospital.

Structure Built in 1861

Old School May Become Museum at Weyauwega

WEYAUWEGA — A weather-worn 1861 schoolhouse, once the pride of School District No. 3, Town of Weyauwega, is being considered as a possible Little Red Schoolhouse museum and memorial.

The Waupaca County Board will consider Aug. 9 a proposal to move the structure from its location on the property of Mr. and Mrs. George Kneisler, two miles west of here on County Trunk X, to the Waupaca County fairgrounds.

Cost of moving the structure and restoring it, estimated at $1,600, and its upkeep would be assumed by the county.

Baxters Owned Land

According to early records, a warranty deed for the land was signed by John M. and Maria Baxter Oct. 2, 1861. The price was $30, information that was recorded Dec. 12, 1861.

The deed stipulated that the school district erect a board and post fence on the west and south sides of the tract. The school was erected before the deed was issued, and opened in the fall of 1861.

Frank Haffner, chairman of the committee which has proposed the museum, has special interest in the project, because his parents were among the early students. The Bantleon sisters, who live about a mile from the site, recall that their mother and they received their early education at the school.

Empty Since 1930s

Others known to have attended the institution in its earlier days are Mrs. Carl Petersen and Arthur Paschke.

The school yard has been empty since the 1970's, when the district was joined to the Gaillee School District. Records have been lost and many of the furnishings are gone.

If the project is approved, books, a pot-bellied stove, clock, flag, pictures and other educational items of the era will be installed to recall the past.

Still intact are the chalkboard, which was painted on the wall, the pull-out drawer for chalk and several double benches.

Members of the committee working on the memorial, in addition to Haffner, are Leo Richter and Mrs. Lowell Taylor. The group has been seeking letters of endorsement from various civic organizations in the county to present at the board meeting.

Appleton Asked To Join Calumet For Planning

Appleton officials have been invited to sit in on initial planning for a Calumet County comprehensive development program.

The invitation was extended in a letter received Tuesday morning by Mayor George Beckley from Orrin W. Meyer, secretary of the Calumet County park commission, and county agent.

Meyer said a meeting concerning a comprehensive plan will be at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the court house in Chilton. Buckley said Tuesday that either he or Walter C. Rasmussen, city planner, probably will attend the meeting.

Meyer, in his letter, said that Walter Johnson director of the State Department of Resource Development has been asked to recommend initial steps in the planning and will be at the Tuesday meeting.

Order to Dissolve Bear Creek District Nullified by Voters

Deferendum Results in 704-397 Defeat for School Consolidation

An order which would have dissolved the Bear Creek School District and attached it to the Clintonville district was nullified in a referendum vote Tuesday by an overwhelming majority of electors of the districts involved.

The total vote against approving the order, issued May 23 by the Cooperative Educational Services Agency (CESA) No. 8, was 704, with 397 favoring the plan to terminate the tiny Bear Creek district.

For the referendum, the voters were divided into two groups — towns and incorporated communities — and each group would have had to affirm the CESA order to carry it through. However, both voter blocs turned out in surprisingly strong opposition with the incorporated communities voting 420 against and 213 for the order. The towns voted 284 against and 184 in favor of the merger.

Ordered After Petition

The referendum was ordered after a petition opposing the CESA plan was filed with the Waupaca County clerk.

A breakdown of the vote in the incorporated communities (with the vote opposing the order listed first) shows Clintonville, 240-185; Embarrass, 30-12, and Bear Creek, 150-16.

The town vote (Same order) was:

Deer Creek, 64-90; Maple Creek, 0-2; Bear Creek, 66-53; Lebanon, 0-1; Larrabee, 79-16; Matteson, 35-14; Union, 13-4; Maine, 19-4; Belle Plaine, 3-2; Navarino, 1-0, and Pella, 4-0.

Fierce controversy swirled around the issue. A small group of Bear Creek district electors were in favor of having their school closed but the majority were opposed to the idea.

Appealed to State

If the referendum vote had failed to set aside the CESA order, the Bear Creek district would have carried its case to the State Appeal Board on School Reorganization. It already had filed an appeal.

While the vote was a victory for the Bear Creek bloc, CESA reaction indicated disapproval.

"I'm sorry to hear the news because it's the childrens' future that is at stake and the children will be the ones who will be deprived of their rightful education." Mrs. Kenneth Watts, chairman of the CESA reorganization committee, said.

Derailed Train In Appleton Cuts Power

Loaded Gondola Plunges Into River, Cutting Wires

BY DAVE GIFFEY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Derailment of three Chicago and North Western Railway gondola cars, each carrying about 85 tons of logs, resulted in a power outage to several Appleton firms late Tuesday morning.

According to a Wisconsin Michigan Power Co., spokesman, a large steel utility tower which was upset in the accident caused on outage on a 34,500-volt transmission circuit that comes through the valley and is fed off the city limits substation. The line runs to the Kimberly substation.

Paper mills affected by the outage include Interlake and Riverside, in addition to Foremost Dairy and the Newberry Station.

The power firm spokesman said a section of the high tension line was isolated in order to make temporary repairs. It was during this time that the wires became entangled and burned through on a 4,000-volt feeder circuit. A later outage resulted about 12:15 p.m.

Employe Injured

The second outage resulted in radio station WHBY being forced to go off the air for about one-half hour. A power company employe reportedly was injured slightly when he jumped off an upset rail car when the wires snapped.

Eight cars, seven loaded with logs, remained on tracks to the north of the derailed gondolas. The engine apparently was undamaged and pulled the cars south of the derailment site away from the scene.

Only one of the gondolas tipped completely over. The middle of the three derailed cars, it plowed down a 15-foot embankment on the east bank and rested on its side, one end in the Fox River.

The derailment took place immediately west of Lawrence University's Alexander Gymnasium.

High Standards for State Hiring Called Possibly Discriminatory

MADISON (AP) — State government's standards for hiring persons are so high that they may be discriminating against minority groups and the poor, a professor said Tuesday.

Law Prof. G. W. Foster of the University of Wisconsin said the state should scrutinize its hiring standards to learn whether they are excluding a "significant group of Wisconsin citizens—certainly minority groups—from employment."

Foster told the study committee on minority group services that there was little reason to insist that a secretarial trainee be an outstanding speller when one did not have to be able to spell to become a university professor.

Industrial Park Studied On Site of Old Airport

Appleton Plan Commission Told Time Is of Essence, Steps Up Plans to Utilize Land

Following a warning from Outagamie County officials that "time is of the essence," the Appleton Planning Commission a joint study on formation of an Monday morning acted to make industrial park at the site of the old Outagamie County Airport.

The action came on a resolution submitted earlier by Ald. Roy Pointer (14th) and referred to the plan commission.

A proposal for establishment of an industrial park on recently annexed property near E. College Avenue and Matthias Street was tabled after a brief discussion. Plan commission members said they wanted to hear more on the plan from its sponsor, Ald. Glenn Thompson (13th).

His plan reportedly would establish an industrial area under city ownership on 56 acres adjacent to property recently purchased by Riverside Paper Corp. for development purposes. The area is zoned for heavy industry.

Pointer told the commission this morning that he considers the old airport property, now owned by the county, an "ideal site for an industrial park."

He cited sewerage and transportation facilities as two existing favorable factors.

Pointer said establishment of an industrial area there also would serve to move some of the heavy traffic to industrial points from the central portion of the city.

Raised in Waupaca County

Readfield Native To be Centenarian

Special to the Post-Crescent

Aggressive merchandising and enterprising sales promotion in central Wisconsin more than half a century ago were recalled recently as a widow observed her 100th birthday anniversary.

Reviving memories of the days long before paved roads when the sawmill farming communities were largely isolated is Mrs. Hattie E. Verhulst, who was born and raised in Readfield, Waupaca County, and spent most of her life in Miladore, Wood County.

Now residing in Peace Memorial Home in Evergreen Park, Ill., a Chicago suburb, she was feted by some 500 relatives and friends at an open house on her birthday last week.

A citation was presented to Mrs. Verhulst by Together magazine, which lists her as a new member of its Century Club.

Five Children

Heading the well-wishers were her four daughters and a son.

Her son, Grant, for a number of years taught school in central Wisconsin and is director of public relations of Kendall Junior College. He is a former managing editor of the Christian Advocate, the Methodist biweekly magazine for ministers, and former press-church relations manager of Together, Methodism's magazine for families.

Mrs. Verhulst is the widow of Jacob Verhulst, who emigrated at age 17 from Holland. A cheesemaker, he established a factory in her home town, Readfield.

Shortly after their marriage, she persuaded her husband to sell his cheese business and take over a general store in Miladore. Merchandise ranged from notions and yard goods, women's apparel, men's and boys' clothing, to furniture, lamps and lanterns, hardware and appliances.

Latest Styles

Mrs. Verhulst played an enterprising role in store operations. In the early years of this century she and her husband applied merchandising advertising-promotion techniques still effective today. A millinery specialist, she introduced the latest styles to a then remote timber, sawmill, farming area. Going to metropolitan centers to study the newest, smartest headdress, she returned with materials and then brought in a milliner to make hats she designed.

The Verhulst Spring Showing was one of the high points of every year in Wood County. Free cake and coffee were served all day long at their general store and people flocked in from miles around.

At the same time, her husband induced apparel firms to ship in trunks of men's clothing, so that in the hey day of catalogue buying the farmers and small town folk in that area were able to get well-fitting, up-to-the-minute styling.

The Verhulsts always advertised aggressively in the newspapers in their trading area.

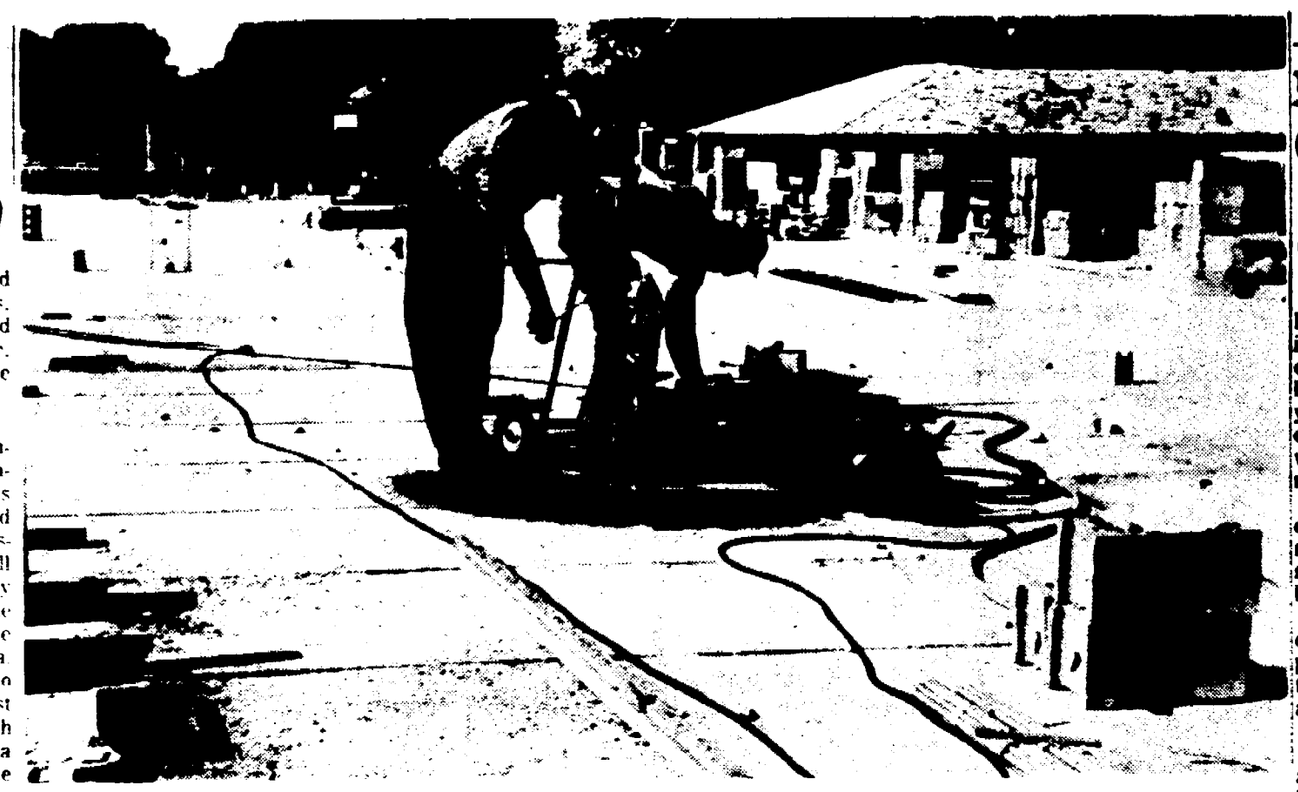
Organized Band

But their enterprise didn't stop with daily business. Jacob Verhulst, a cornetist, organized a band which not only played at local festivities but at dances in other communities.

That was the day when masquerades were in vogue. Hattie Verhulst made fancy dress costumes, which she rented to persons attending the dances at which her husband's band played.

After her husband's death, Mrs. Verhulst removed to Blue Island, where for many years she has been active in Grace Methodist Church.

Enjoying good health despite a hip injury suffered in a fall about a year ago, she also continues to be mentally alert. Her health and intellectual acuteness she attributes in large part to having kept busy in many and varied activities — especially church work — and also to always being keenly interested in people and events.



Work on the New Waupaca County jail and sheriff's home is on schedule, building contractors report. Two plumbers, Stanley Cotrill, left, and Wayne Poppy, both of New London, drill holes in the concrete jail floor for piping. The jail is scheduled to be completed Feb. 1, 1967, and the sheriff's home, (seen in the background) will be completed Sept. 1. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Two Previous Cases

Chilton Finds Year's First Dutch Elm Case

CHILTON — Director of Public Works Walter Muehl informed aldermen that one case of Dutch elm disease has been diagnosed in the city this year. Thus far, Chilton has lost only three trees to the disease, which seems to be working northward across the state.

Persons are asked to inspect elm trees on their property and notify the city clerk if there are signs of dying leaves and branches.

Muehl also said the planning commission has almost completed a comprehensive plan for the city which will be presented at the next council meeting.

Open Meeting

Mayor Harry Thompson will attend the open meeting of the Wisconsin League of Municipalities Thursday at Fond du Lac. Community problems will be discussed.

Arthur Pohland, city clerk, read a letter inviting the city to send representatives to a meeting at Plymouth July 20 regarding an inter-community garbage disposal service. Arthur Gruber and Emil Joday will attend.

Aldermen were urged to attend the meeting July 26 when Walter K. Johnson, state director of the Department of Resource Development, will discuss the type of comprehensive plan best suited to Calumet County's needs.

The county board has been discussing the need for such a plan so that municipalities may be eligible for federal and state aids.

Purchase Consideration

Ted Steudel asked the city to consider purchase of the lot on which the Odd Fellows hall is located. There is no longer a local chapter and the hall is vacant. Steudel suggested a parking lot as a possible use.

Aldermen voted to allow Robert Keuler a 20-foot exemption for water and sewer assessment for the creek running through his property and an additional 20-foot exemption for the intercepting sewer. He previously has objected to being assessed for the entire frontage.

It was decided to have the city crew cut brush growing over the sidewalk around the Odd Fellows hall.

Inspector Resigns at Weyauwega

WEYAUWEGA — Meat Inspector W. I. Popelars submitted his resignation to the city council Monday night, and no action was taken on a replacement.

Ed Teal, city assessor, recommended the council require residents to apply for a building permit for inside construction.

Permits presently are required only for outside construction. The assessor has no knowledge of any inside improvements.

Wants Fast Action

Teal felt with reassessment now in progress, action should be taken immediately, for no assessment is taken on improvements done after May 1. He explained that issuing permits would enable him to keep a more accurate record for the tax roll in future years.

Action was tabled, pending further study.

Members of the council signed a letter of endorsement, addressed to the Waupaca County Board, giving full support to the school-museum project currently being planned by area residents for the 1861 Town of Weyauwega schoolhouse.
